Britain Fights to Preserve 'Hands-Off' Pact

SOVIETS GIVE WARNING ON SPAIN AID

Charge Some European Nations Are Helping Fascist Rebels

(By the Associated Press)
Great Britain struggled today to hold together the European non-intervention agreement in Spain, threatened with collapse by a Russian ultimatum.
Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden broke off a holiday to return to London and personally direct British policy.
In the wake of a warning from Moscow it would support Madrid openly if Italy, Germany and Portugal do not stop their alleged military support of the Spanish insurgents, came reports that other countries—as yet unnamed—would question alleged breaches of the "hands-off" pact tomorrow at a meeting of the European non-intervention committee.

Berlin Denies
In Berlin the propaganda ministry categorically denied Russia's charge Germany was delivering war material to the Spanish Fascists and asserted it was "adhering strictly" to the agreement.
Informed sources in Moscow said the Soviet government hoped Britain and France would abandon their "indifference" to alleged violations of the neutrality pact and would stand with the Soviet.

Europe Worried
Worried Europe also faced the latent threat of open hostility in the Mediterranean should Russian ships seek to land supplies at Spanish government ports guarded by Fascist warships.
The Moscow ultimatum was delivered to the signatories of the pact in London last night. It specified its charges of shipments.

SHIRLEY SUED FOR MILLION

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A one-million-dollar suit hung over the curly head of Shirley Temple today.
The suit was filed yesterday by Jack Hays, film producer, who declares he is responsible for the amazing success of the child actress.
Named co-defendants with Shirley were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Temple, Twentieth Century-Fox, the studio which employs her, and the California Bank and Trust company.
Hays charged in his complaint that the Temples repudiated a contract signed Jan. 13, 1932, under which he agreed to train the 7-year-old girl for the screen and get her services exclusively for a two-year period. The child's parents took her away from his management Oct. 1, 1933, Hays complained, and placed her under contract to Twentieth Century-Fox.

U. S. Estimates Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The department of agriculture reported today this year's cotton crop, as indicated by Oct. 1 condition, would be 11,609,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.
A crop of 12,481,000 bales was indicated Aug. 1 this year, and 12,121,000 bales were indicated on Sept. 1. Last year's production was 10,638,000 bales and that of 1934 was 9,636,000 bales.

All Austria Awaits 'Duel'

VIENNA. (AP)—Austria's political crisis assumed an "opera bouffe" aspect today as a duel challenge and slander suits threats shunted attention from a cabinet meeting.
The ponderous machinery of an "honor court," modern Austria's compromise with the romantic code duello, was set in motion to consider the challenge hurled by Major Emil Fey, "eusted" Heimwehr leader, at Prince Ernest von Starhemberg, once co-dictator of Austria.

$500,000 in Boat Taxes Menaced

Orange county, by virtue of a recent Los Angeles superior court decision, stands to lose more than $500,000 from its assessment of boats.
But it probably won't.
Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson of Los Angeles ruled this week that except for unregistered barges, ships are exempt from assessment in the counties where they habitually are moored or anchored, and must be assessed by the counties in which their ports of registry are situated.
Owing to the fact that there are only three ports of registry on the Pacific coast, at Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, the $1,000,000 worth of yachts anchored at Newport harbor come under this ruling, and if it is adhered to strictly, they will be stricken from the county tax rolls.
However, the assumption is that Los Angeles county is not especially anxious to have these craft on its assessment rolls, and since the sister county has always cooperated with this county, the chances are now that the craft will be assessed here.

TIEUP LOOMS AT SALINAS 'TRIGGERMAN' GETS LIFE

Teamsters to Vote for General Strike to Aid Lettuce Men

SALINAS. (AP)—The teamsters union will vote for a general strike, Secretary Charles Smith announced today, when a meeting of unions is called to consider a walkout in protest against the anti-picketing ordinance in the lettuce workers strike.
Smith said members of the teamsters union instructed their delegates to the Central Labor union to vote for the strike.

Hope was expressed that the lettuce strike may be settled amicably despite the Grower-Shippers Vegetable association's rejection of a gubernatorial compromise proposal.
A builders exchange committee, a group of construction employers acting as a link between grower-shippers and the Fruit and Vegetable Workers union, stated it does "not regard the prospect of negotiations to settle the strike by any means closed."

The committee conferred last night with representatives of the union, whose 3200 members are demanding preferential hiring, but the nature of discussions was not disclosed.

Farm Unit Loans $4,000,000 Here

Nearly four million dollars is on loan to Orange county farmers through the Orange County National Farm Loan association, C. A. Palmer, secretary, reported today.
There are in force 723 loans for a total of $3,929,800, he said, with 17 applications pending for loans totaling $184,800. Of the loans in force, 424 are commitments for short term loans for relatively small amounts, totaling $1,536,100, and 299 are for land bank loans of larger amounts over long terms, amounting to $2,393,700.

Babson Editor Says It's F. D. R.

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP)—Creighton J. Hill, an editor of Babson's reports, asserted today "statistics indicate that Roosevelt will be re-elected."
Hill told the 23rd annual national business conference under the auspices of the Babson Statistical Institute, "that only a spectacular burst of speed on the part of Republicans can prevent a Roosevelt victory. This upset is of course possible. It is not probable."

10 Buildings Burn In Canadian Town

ST. ANNE DE BEAUPRE, Que. (AP)—A raging fire destroyed 10 buildings today in this village, home of the famous Catholic shrine, causing damage estimated at $250,000. The business district fire razed three hotels and the Redemptorist Fathers sanatorium.
The challenge came as a climax to the bitter fight for control of the powerful Heimwehr (home guard) between Starhemberg and Fey.
Starhemberg charged Fey's conduct at the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was "never satisfactorily explained."
Stung, the fiery Fey demanded "a settlement in keeping with the tradition of the Austrian army."
If he does not obtain his "vindication" through the honor court, it was learned, Fey may seek it in a law court.

TO FIX FARM WAGES HERE OCT. 15

Board Rules Out Demand
For Recognition of Bargaining Right

After taking thousands of words of testimony from workers and growers, an arbitration board here yesterday set next Thursday, Oct. 15, for a meeting at which a wage scale will be determined.
Copies of the award, Barker said, will be placed in the mail by Friday, Oct. 16, and sent to both workers and growers.
Jack Snow, Santa Ana, representing workers, and Harry D. Zimmer, Anaheim, representing Japanese growers, will meet with Thomas Barker, deputy state labor commissioner, at the latter's Los Angeles office on that date.

Only Wages at Issue
By agreement of both parties, yesterday's hearing, conducted in the courthouse here, and the subsequent decision next week, are only on the question of wages. Workers yesterday asked recognition of collective bargaining, elimination of child labor, preference to Orange county residents, and other concessions.
These were ruled out because they were not included in an agreement reached last month for the arbitration meeting. At that time wages were stated as the whole issue.

Workers are asking 35 cents per hour, as compared with an award of 25 cents last year. Growers insist that the 25-cent scale be maintained.
Both sides painted a gloomy picture before the board. Workers said their living costs have risen 20 to 40 per cent in the past year, and that even last year they had only subsistence wages. Testimony of several workers showed they averaged from six to eight months of work per year at $2.25 per day. Few, said the workers, were able to have uninterrupted work for that period.

Growers, with Stuart Strathman of Placentia, their principal spokesman, said the early tomato crop was under average and there was a light pepper crop. Many dry farmers had complete failures of tomato crops, they said.

CITY BUSY ON PAXTON DEAL

Santa Ana may offer money, land, or other inducements to Food Machinery corporation to keep the Paxton Nailing Machine plant here and bring two other plants from Riverside.

The firm recently purchased the Paxton plant here and the Parker Machine works in Riverside. It also owns another plant in Riverside.
City councilmen met yesterday at the city hall to consider the offer, and instructed City Auditor Lloyd Banks to determine what the city may do toward retaining the plant.

Although Riverside is reported to have offered, through the Chamber of Commerce there, nine acres of land and $50,000 to have the plants consolidated in that city, Food Machinery corporation has not yet announced a decision.
"Nothing definite" came out of yesterday's session, councilmen said.

Hale Paxton, founder of the local plant and now general manager of the three Food Machinery plants, said his firm would take action in three or four days if Santa Ana submitted an offer.

20 Buildings Burn In Canadian Town

SEATTLE. (AP)—The freighter Tanana, a strike or "mutiny" by firemen in progress, rode in a dangerous position in Dry Spruce bay at Kodiak Island, Alaska, today while the coast guard patrol boat Morris sped across the Gulf of Alaska to investigate.
District coast guard headquarters here said it would be Friday night at the earliest before the Morris could reach the Tanana, whose master wireless the firemen refused to perform their work unless paid longshoremen's wages for handling cargo.

Hudson Elected To World Court

GENEVA. (AP)—Dr. Manley O. Hudson, of Harvard university, tonight was elected to the World Court of International Justice, succeeding Frank B. Kellogg, former United States secretary of war.

Townsend, Still a 'Lemke Man,' Will Vote Landon

HIS FAVORITE IS NOT ON BALLOT

Urges Followers to Do
Likewise; Calls Alf
'Lesser Evil'

CHICAGO. (AP)—In a written statement supplementing an announcement of last night that he would vote for Landon for president, Dr. Francis E. Townsend today urged his followers to support Congressman William Lemke (R., N. D.) "in those states where Mr. Lemke has filed a third party ticket."

The old age pension leader's statement read, "I am for William Lemke for president because Mr. Lemke is for the Townsend plan. Mr. Lemke failed of filing his independent ticket in California. I am a resident of California and must choose the lesser of two evils and vote for Mr. Landon."

"I cannot as a matter of principle vote for Mr. Roosevelt, whose New Deal administration has attempted in so many ways to attack and break up our organization."

"In those states where Mr. Lemke has filed a third party ticket, I strongly urge all Townsend club members and their friends to vote for him."

Lemke, whose headquarters also are in Chicago, is the union party's presidential candidate.

ROOSEVELT AND LANDON BEGIN JAUNTS AGAIN

By the Associated Press
Hitting the campaign trail once again, President Roosevelt and Governor Landon faced today the grueling phase of the electioneering which will give them little rest from now to Nov. 3.
With expressions of "renewed confidence" Gov. Landon made ready to leave Tokyo this evening for a 2400-mile tour of Lake states. The first of three major addresses will be given tomorrow night at Chicago on public financing.

REALTORS HEAR BOOM AT HAND

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Cheered by reports of current good business and brighter prospects in the future, 2000 delegates today opened the thirty-second annual convention of the California Real Estate association.
Coupled with an array of statements by economists that a "boom is at hand" was a warning by Charles B. Shattuck, president of the association, against unrestrained speculation in land and inflated prices.

Rockefeller Off For Florida Home

LAKEWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Assisted by two men, 97-year-old John D. Rockefeller, sr., boarded a private train today for his annual trip south to his winter estate, "The Casements" in Ormond Beach, Fla.

Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire 'Kidnaped Here'

Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are missing!
It doesn't smack of kidnapping or scandal, though—just petty theft. Two almost life-sized cardboard figures of the film dance team were reported stolen yesterday from the West Coast theater.
They are valued at $7.50.

Starving Girl Eats Again

Here is 18-year-old Merna Hansen of Salem, Ore., sipping milk, her first food in four days, in a hospital at Oakland, Calif., after she was found in a serious condition from starvation in a downtown hotel. She came to California a month ago with $25, but was unable to find employment and was too proud to ask for aid or charity or notify relatives. (Associated Press photo.)

Vessel on Rocks; Crew in Danger

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pounding seas smashed the waterlogged freighter Ohioan, aground just outside Golden Gate and placed a crew of 42 men and officers in jeopardy today. The coast guard expressed doubt plans to float the vessel off Seal Rocks would be successful. Although Captain L. M. Read told the marine superintendent of the American Hawaiian line that the crew was in no danger, the coast guard reported waves were sweeping the deck, and the vessel might be considerably damaged.

The engine room crew was ordered on deck when water began gushing into the engine room. A breeches buoy was rigged from the ship to the shore, 100 yards away, ready for use if needed.

The Ohioan hit the rocks on San Francisco's Ocean Beach shortly before midnight while groping through a thick fog.

Two hours later the coast guard received a report the Swayne and Hoyt freighter Point Brava and the trawler New Monterey side-swiped off Point Montara, 22 miles south of here. No other details were reported. The cutter Ariadne was dispatched to stand by.

No ship has ever been saved from the spot where the Ohioan struck.

Los Angeles Is Hotter Today

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The mercury climbed upward today as a mass of warm air swept in from the desert, threatening to equal the year's heat record.
At 11 a. m. the temperature was 93, one degree higher than it was yesterday at the same time. The weather bureau said that in mid-afternoon the temperature might reach 97, equalling the year's hottest day, July 19. Yesterday's maximum was 96 degrees, the second hottest day of the year.

Keeping Up With the Joneses

There are two ways to interpret the above headline. The unusual interpretation is that it means spending as much money as your next door neighbor, buying a new car when he does, joining a ritzy club when he does, dressing just as fashionably, and having just as much fun and whoopee. But our interpretation—from a newspaper standpoint—means providing you with the news about who is doing what in Orange county and Santa Ana. You can keep up with the Joneses if you read about folks daily in The Journal, Santa Ana's newest newspaper. Turn to page 3.

CITIZENSHIP SOUGHT BY ONLY 150

Immigration Inspector
Here Reveals Facts
On Situation

Half of the 16,000 Mexicans in Orange county are in the United States illegally.

This was revealed today by Immigration Inspector Franklin Davis, who exhibited figures to show that 8000 are illegally living in this country—not necessarily criminally—but here illegally just the same.

Can't Be Naturalized
Only 150 Mexicans here have their first papers, he said; he also explained that none of them can become naturalized citizens. These are included in the 8000 who are here illegally, and who crossed the border under permits for employment in this country, Davis said.

Contrasting with the 8000 illegal Mexican aliens are the similar number of aliens of other countries, of whom less than 200 are illegally in the United States, he explained.
But the 8000 uninvited Mexicans work, live and go to school here. Taxpayers support their children in school, care for them when they go to the county hospital, and give them relief when they are out of work, or when no fruit or vegetables are being harvested.

Others Naturalized
While the aliens of other countries are almost all on their way to being citizens, less than 150 of them not having applied for first papers, under $8000 permits is maintained as a good average among the Mexicans, year by year.

The other aliens include German, English, Canadian, Scotch and Irish citizens, Davis pointed out.

SWEDISH FLIER IS RESCUED

VALENTIA, Irish Free State. (AP)—Kurt Bjorkvall, rescued near this Irish island after being forced down on a direct New-York-to-Stockholm flight, sailed today toward La Rochelle, France, leaving his plane in a rough sea.
The French trawler Imbrin, which picked up Bjorkvall yesterday afternoon, changed its course from Valentia to its home French port after its crew failed in an attempt to salvage the flier's plane.

Bjorkvall was aboard the trawler—uninjured and good health. The plane was seriously damaged by a rough sea. The airplane and trawler made contact on a moderate sea during a moonlight night about 100 miles off Ireland's west coast.

Aviation experts here expressed belief the Swedish pilot must have been out of fuel when picked up.

ALLEGED BUNCO MAN JAILED

After three weeks of fighting writs, hearing testimony and dodging legal complications, Deputy Sheriff Russell R. Lutes was back in Santa Ana from Michigan today, bringing with him Warren Marr, 35, wanted on bunco charges here.
Marr, who fled to Detroit after allegedly swindling several Orange county residents out of stock, fought extradition through three courts and a governor's hearing before he was finally released to return here.
He is charged with five counts of grand theft and violation of the corporate securities act. Police records show a long series of bunco and check charges against him since 1925.

WILL PRESENT STYLE SHOW TONIGHT

Doors Open at 7 P. M.
At Ebell for Fun
Festival Event

Doors at the Ebell clubhouse will open at 7 p. m. today preceding the fun festival and style show, to allow visitors to enjoy the amusements and concessions in the outer lobby. The event will be staged tonight and tomorrow night by the Home Owned Business association.

Doors to the auditorium where the program will be staged, will open at 8 p. m. The curtain will rise at 8:15 p. m. Ticket sales at the box office will start at 7 p. m.

Four-part Program
The program, including display of latest styles on popular models, and Fanchon and Marco vaudeville, will be presented in four parts, with a prologue. Styles to be shown will include those for every time of day and evening.

The 12 girls entered in the queen contest will be seen on the stage. The queen will be selected at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

The auditorium has been filled with flowers by the Boquet shop. The style show will be presented by Rankin's store, Polyana shop, Hugh J. Lowe store, Hill and Carden clothing store, Sam Hurwitz clothing store and Vandermast's clothing store.

Candidates for Queen
The following are the entries in the queen contest, with the stores they represent:

Miss Frances Bassett, Hugh J. Lowe store; Miss Catherine Bogard, Old Colonial shop; Mrs. Leona V. Briggs, California Coffee shop; Mrs. Trevor Carnes Vandermast's; Miss Thelma Harmon, Johnson Business Institute; Miss Dorcas Hendrie, Candyland; Miss Mary Holmes, Monroe Pharmacy; Miss Hazel Martin, Chicago College of Beauty; Miss Helen Nahlinger, Home cafe; Miss Thelma Roy, Herbert L. Miller, Inc.; Miss Barbara W. War, Foster-Barker Music company, and Miss Irene Wyckoff, Excelsior creamery.

There will be displays of valuable merchandise at the show. There also will be attendance prizes.

VISITS' MARKET

James V. Clark, route 4, Santa Ana, found himself and his automobile on the sidewalk yesterday in front of a downtown market. The car almost went right into the vegetables, too, but was stopped by a marble-faced wall. Clark was uninjured.

MORE ABOUT BOAT TAXES

will remain on the Orange county roles.

And anyway, as an official of the assessor's office said, it's only a Los Angeles superior court ruling, and still would have to be acted upon here before action could be taken.

Up to 1933 all craft were assessed in the counties in which they are registered, anyway, and virtually all the Orange county craft were assessed in Los Angeles county.

Heir to $500,000
Then the law was amended to make the counties in which they were habitually moored the ones which assessed them and collected taxes, and Orange county fell heir to $500,000 in assessments, which was a good thing for the county—and for the boat owners.

It was nice for the boat owners, because the assessment rate is a good deal lower here on yachts and other craft than it is in Los Angeles county.

Then, too, it was a good deal simpler for boat owners who already had their yachts, fishing boats, power craft and other seagoing vehicles moored here to allow the assessment to be made here, and to drop in at Assessor James Sleeper's office to pay their taxes.

Chance to Fight
For a long time it has been the custom to allow the boat owner to signify the county in which he wished to pay his taxes.

And, for one more thing, many owners of these Newport harbor craft have legal residence in Orange county, and it would be difficult for Los Angeles county to collect taxes on their boats, even if they wanted to, provided the boat owner wanted to fight back.

The northern county would have to sue for collection, which would eat up more money than the taxes.

So this county probably will proceed about its business of taxing boats in Newport harbor without a thought for Judge Wilson's decision. Los Angeles county probably won't even care.

New York ranks first of the 48 states in manufacturing.

Cantando Guest Artist

Duci de Kerekjarto, famous Hungarian violinist, shown here, will be guest artist with the Cantando club here, at its first concert of the season, Nov. 17. Having studied music since he was three years old, the violinist played before the queen of Rumania at the age of 7. Last June he appeared before a Philharmonic audience at Los Angeles. He will be soloist with a symphony orchestra in New York next year.

Supporters of New Tenure Plan Contend It Will Ban School 'Spoils System'

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the proposed new tenure system for California teachers. Tomorrow's article will outline arguments against the plan.)

By FRANK ORR
"Take the spoils system out of the schools!"

That's the battlecry of the California Federation of Classroom Teachers, as it snarls a horrible snarl at the California Teachers association and the P-T-A, and strikes out for a new law.

Its law, to be voted on as a constitutional amendment on the November ballot (No. 11, if you're taking notes), is called the "teachers' tenure initiative." It would take the teacher tenure regulations off the statute books and put them in the constitution. It provides that discharge of teachers shall be controlled by a board of three persons, practically appointed for life; and places every teacher under tenure, no matter what the size of the school or how new a teacher she may be.

Their Arguments
And the federation, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, argues this way in urging a "yes" vote Nov. 3:

1. It would apply the civil service system to school teachers.
2. Teachers are freed from the "spoils system" which sometimes results in unfair firing of teachers— "releases," they're called.
3. It is fair to the public, the school boards, and to the teacher.

4. The incompetent, the unfit, and the politically-appointed teachers are gotten rid of easily.

Damages Awarded In Fraud Suit

Backing up their claim that they had been mulcted in the exchange of a Long Beach business property for a 10-acre orange grove in Anaheim last year, a superior court jury yesterday awarded Mr. and Mrs. David J. Owens of Anaheim $3000 damages in a fraud suit conducted before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens had brought suit against Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Schneider, former Anaheim residents, and Carl C. Rasmussen, realtor. They charged Rasmussen had misrepresented the value and earning capacity of their orange grove, when exchanging it for Owens' Long Beach property.

The judgment was for $2250 against the Schneiders, and for $750 against Rasmussen.

Mesa Group Plans Party

COSTA MESA.—At a meeting of the Standard Bearers here Tuesday plans were made for a Halloween party to be given Oct. 30 and officers were installed.

New officers seated were president, Mabeth Armstrong; vice president, Gladys Edick; secretary, Virginia Armstrong; treasurer, Ila Jean Jones; program chairman, Melba Moss and program committee, Marie Murphy and Dorothy Hoffard.

Kidnaper Mahan In Prison Hospital

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—(AP)—William Mahan, under life sentence for the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, Washington timber fortune heir, is in the federal prison hospital here undergoing treatment. It was learned today. Hospital officials, however, refused to discuss the case, saying they had orders from Washington not to give out any publicity about patients.

PROBLEMS OF GROWERS TO BE TOLD

(This is the first of a series of articles submitted by the Orange County Protective association (an association of Orange county growers and processors). It is the purpose of these articles to answer some of the many questions being asked daily as to the causes underlying the labor disturbances in agriculture. Do the majority of workers want to strike? Are the Communists active in these strikes? Are any real radicals connected with them? What are the factors behind the scenes? What has agriculture done about this all too serious situation?)

Orange county is basically an agricultural area. The gross income from its agricultural products in 1935 exceeded $30,000,000. This income was below the seven-year average of over $35,000,000 for the seven depression years beginning with 1929. Of this total income over two-thirds is derived from citrus products, the balance from other orchard crops, truck crops, field crops, nursery and livestock.

From the income of its agricultural products this county receives directly and indirectly its largest tax income, our merchants receive their largest patronage and the greatest number of people receive their employment and livelihood.

Newest Problem
The problems of agriculture, their solution, and their effect upon the industry affect materially the economic conditions of the county as a whole. We growers believe that the residents not actually engaged in agricultural pursuits should be and are interested in our problems and from that viewpoint present to you our newest problem.

In the past and today we have had the problems of pest control, water supply and its diminishing supply and increasing costs, marketing conditions, excessive taxes, and others to deal with. These problems have all contributed to conditions that have made red ink much more prevalent than profit during the years named.

Competition Keen
Other factors that we must consider are those of competition. Competition to California crops which are shipped out of the state to eastern markets comes mostly from Florida, Texas and other southern states. Cost of production in those states are less than they are here. Those areas do not have to irrigate, their pest control problems are fewer and less expensive, they are closer to the markets, making transportation costs less, and they pay their agricultural workers lower wages than we do.

Irrespective of whether the growers make or lose money, their overhead goes on just the same for them and their families must live. Just as many people must be employed and they must still control pests, irrigate, fertilize, pay taxes, purchase equipment and continue with normal expenses. That difference, reflected in the business of the county as the difference between poor or ordinary business conditions and good business conditions.

Strike Threats
Overhead expenses have now attained such proportions in relationship to prices received for products that any appreciable increase in costs could well be disastrous and such an increase can readily be foreseen in the apparent rise in strike activities among the agricultural employees. Such strikes are not only costly in themselves but they often cause large market losses.

From many available sources we have obtained a mass of information which has been studied and from which we have selected those portions which we believe are accurate and of value in giving as clear a picture as possible, as briefly as possible, of the history and existing circumstances pertaining to agricultural labor disputes in the county.

Former Pastor Here Is Killed

The Rev. G. A. Steirle, former Santa Ana pastor, was killed yesterday in a Glendale automobile accident, friends here learned today.

He was pastor of the Evangelical church here from 1920 to 1924, later being transferred to Los Angeles and then to Glendale, where he was in his second year as pastor.

Arts and Crafts Group Meets

COSTA MESA.—A regular meeting of the Friday Afternoon club arts and crafts section, under Mrs. Merwin Fickas, was held Tuesday afternoon in the sunroom of the Women's clubhouse, with members making Mexican charm strings and crackle painting. Various objects of handicraft were exhibited.

Present were Mesdames S. A. Meyer, J. C. Payne, Merwin Fickas, C. G. Huston, T. O. Tallman, I. C. Bixler, E. V. Minor, C. E. Finley, Addie Frink, R. G. Roberts, H. E. Taylor, Charles Lipscomb, Cooper, Emily Plumer, J. W. Wherry and John Daughenbaugh.

Passenger Plane Reaches Honolulu

HONOLULU.—(AP)—The China Clipper, bearing five newspapermen passengers in a flight to Manila preliminary to regular service Oct. 21 alighted here at 6:43 a. m. today (9:23 a. m., Santa Ana time).

CHEST HEADED FOR SUCCESS HERE TODAY

Passing the half-way mark at the Wednesday noon meeting at the Elks club, volunteer workers in the Community Chest campaign continued their work today, encouraged with results to date and determined that the total goal of $35,556.70 shall be raised for charity and welfare work in Santa Ana during the coming year.

The total subscriptions to date amount to $22,500, or 63 per cent of the goal, it was announced at noon. Today 579 subscriptions, for a total of $4377, were announced.

"We have asked every member of the campaign organization to attend the report luncheon meetings today and tomorrow noon at the Elks club," Chairman D. G. Tidball said.

"I am looking forward to a good report, which will materially reduce the amount needed to reach the goal. Results attained by teams which have reported are splendid. We are depending on each worker and I know that we will not be disappointed."

Eight more teams reported 100 per cent or more of their quotas at the Wednesday meeting. The teams and their captains were: 1-B-5, Bertha Berry; 3-B-5, Mrs. E. S. Gilbert; 3-B-6, Louise Friendly; 4-A-7, Mrs. Ethelbert Johnson; 4-B-3, Mrs. J. Burgett; 4-B-4, Mrs. O. S. McFarland; 4-D-3, Ethel Lee Hedrick; and 5-D-5, Hal Hatfield.

STORES MAKING XMAS PLANS

Christmas soon will be here. The weather doesn't indicate it, but Santa Ana retail merchants, with an eye on the calendar, this morning held the first of a series of meetings at the chamber of commerce to lay plans for the holiday season.

Representatives of a Los Angeles firm offering a novel entertainment feature demonstrated their plan before the meeting, but no action was taken. Further meetings will consider entertainment, decorations and other phases.

Next meeting will be Oct. 15, with all retail stores invited to be represented.

Democrats Will Rally Oct. 17

Orange county Roosevelt supporters will gather at Irvine park Oct. 17 at what is expected to be one of the largest meetings of its kind held this year.

Outstanding speakers and entertainment are planned. Tickets will be available at all Democrat headquarters in the county, including the Santa Ana office, 508 North Broadway. Martell Thompson, Orange secretary of the Democratic central committee, and Joe Peterson, secretary of the campaign committee, are in charge.

Death of Henry Nau Reported

Word was received here today of the death of Henry Nau in San Bernardino. He was a former Santa Ana.

He is survived by his wife, Rose Nau; three brothers, Sam W. Nau of Tustin, William Nau of Oregon, and Marion Nau of Los Angeles; and four sisters, Mrs. Charles Boyer and Mrs. Adam Zaiser of Tustin; Mrs. Vernon Smith of Los Angeles, and Miss Henrietta Nau of Santa Ana.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

today for a nine-day drive into 11 states. Departing at noon, he planned to tour much of the agricultural Midwest, go into the Rocky mountains and swing back into New York. At least two major speeches were on his program, one from Omaha Oct. 10 and another from Chicago Oct. 14. The trip will carry him into London's home state of Kansas. After this swing into the interior is over, he plans to go to New England.

Among last night's developments bearing on the campaign was an announcement from California that Dr. Francis E. Townsend planned to vote for Landon.

Wunder's Comment
He pointed out that it would be impossible for him to vote for Rep. William Lemke, because Lemke electors have not succeeded in getting on the California ballot. Thus, he said, Townsends must choose between Roosevelt and Landon and "I advise that we choose the lesser of two evils."

At New York, Dr. Clinton Wunder, former Townsend leader who is a Roosevelt supporter, said: "Townsend is finally admitting he is for Landon, the man he's been fighting for all along."

Wunder called Landon "the most reactionary man on the pension subject today."

WPA Theater Group Gives 'Mikado' to Full House

Lilting melodies and the gay good humor of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "The Mikado," were brought here last night by a semi-professional cast from the San Diego federal theater project of WPA.

FAMOUS SALE ANNOUNCED

The Famous store here was a center of interest today as it was announced that next Saturday will be Super-Famous day at the department store. The event is observed twice a year. Months of time have been spent in preparing for the event, and in selecting merchandise for it according to P. J. Mahedy, manager.

Mahedy said unusual values will be offered at the Famous store. "No detail has been overlooked for this event," he said. "The resources of this six-store organization, both in personnel and material, have been drafted for Super-Famous day."

Mahedy pointed out that the sale will be an advantageous time to anticipate future needs, as well as to supply present wants.

"Sales are frequent," he said, "but this semi-annual event exceeds anything else the Famous offers the public. Not that bargains are not always available, but this one day sale is prepared with the motive of giving special values."

Mahedy suggested that shoppers come to the store as early as possible on Saturday, although the store will be open that night also. It will be impossible, he said, to fill mail, telephone or C. O. orders.

LA FOLLETTE'S COUSIN WEDS

The first cousin of one of America's most famous men was married quietly in Santa Ana yesterday, and slipped quietly away again on a honeymoon.

She was Marion E. LaFollette, 27, first cousin of Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The bridegroom gave his name as E. Clark Gardner, treasurer of Silverwood's store, in Los Angeles, and his age as 42.

Miss LaFollette told Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison, who performed the ceremony, she had recently been released from a hospital, where she had undergone a major operation.

Witnesses were Adeline Landau, of Los Angeles, and A. J. Greenwell, of Hollywood.

Woman, Lover Get Life for Slaying

WINNER, S. D.—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Kutis, 40, mother of five children, and Henry Hensgren, 29, farm hand, were sentenced to life imprisonment today by Circuit Judge John Bartine for the murder of Mrs. Kutis' husband, Thomas, slain in his farm yard last Sept. 28. Both pleaded guilty.

FASCISTS DEMAND MADRID SURRENDER
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
BURGOS, Spain, — Fascist insurgents, pressing their smashing drive to within striking distance of Madrid, demanded today immediate surrender of the Spanish capital.

The Fascist ultimatum, served on the government as the insurgent high command announced capture of town after town almost in the environs of the capital, threatened destruction of Madrid by bombardment from land and air unless surrender were offered.

FRANCO FORCES ROLL ON
At the same time, an air fleet showered the city with circulars calling on the populace to show allegiance to the Fascist provisional government, asserting that further resistance was useless.

Four columns of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's 150,000 men on the south and west fronts rolled back the harassed government defense line.

In the immediate Toledo sector a long awaited assault was launched on Aranjuez, Madrid's foodway to the Mediterranean.

STUBBORN LOYAL FORCES FIGHT BACK
MADRID. (AP)—Tired and battle-worn but fighting with unflinching stubbornness, Socialist militiamen dug in today on the Navaiperal and Valmojado fronts under a terrific battering from insurgent battalions driving toward Madrid.

Government forces held commanding positions along their new front 25 miles southwest of the city in the rolling countryside that formed a no-man's land between Valmajado and Santa Cruz del Retamar on the Maqueda highway.

To the east, on the Toledo highway at Olias della Rel, theater of fierce fighting for the past week, the government still held positions, commanders said.

Huge Area in Brazil Flooded

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil. (AP)—The worst flood in years today submerged and isolated vast areas of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, government authorities reported. Ruinous devastation for 50,000 persons, they said, was left by floods which swept across the low, fertile coastal regions to the sea. There were three known deaths. Four thousand refugees were sheltered in private homes, schoolhouses and churches.

STATE TOTALS ON PENSIONS DOUBLE

Orange County Charity Costs Per Capita Are Lowest

Orange county old age figure costs have mounted 80 per cent since passage of the old age security law, but—

In the state as a whole the number of old age pensioners has more than doubled!

Mrs. Florence Turner, state director of social welfare, said today California boasts of 48,558 cases on old age pensions, where prior to passage of the federal and state security acts there were 21,877 cases.

However, the average paid these old age pensioners throughout the state is higher than the Orange county average.

In California the average pension is $31.46, to which it has risen from approximately $23. In Orange county the average is $29.51.

The increases are due almost entirely to the fact that the new bill has lowered age requirements from 70 to 65 years, and also to the fact it has unified residence and other eligibility requirements, making it easier in many cases to qualify for old age relief.

But here is still another, and encouraging side to the picture—Orange county is among the lowest in expenditure per capita for all charities and corrections, including old age relief, in the state of California.

And in a group of comparable counties, as selected by the Giannini foundation during recent studies on county expenditures, this county is lowest, by a wide margin.

So these are good figures to contemplate, when realizing the astounding manner in which old age pension costs have mounted.

Other neighbors had their troubles with ducks. An anonymous caller reported a quacking noise on West Third street, but officers found no ducks.

Six-year-old Donald Little, 610 East Fourth street, was located by police and taken home last night after he had been reported missing by his father, John P. Little.

Yesterday's city court traffic fines: George B. Stabrian, $5; William L. Copeland, $6; Paul A. Chamlee, $8.

Seeking to quiet title to seven pieces of Orange county property, William C. Milford, Amos Violette, Lena Violette, Carl W. Dodd, Margaret Dodd, George C. Hest, H. P. Opp, Elma L. Opp, Henry C. Thierman, Ida Wilson-Gillum, Roscoe W. Scott and Elizabeth Scott filed suit in superior court yesterday against the P. C. Development company.

Arthur J. Ingle petitioned in superior court yesterday to terminate the joint tenancy interest of his deceased wife, Vesta A. Ingle, who died June 24, to property in Orange and San Bernardino counties.

Earl R. Abbey, as public administrator, petitioned in superior court yesterday for special letters of administration for the estate of Joseph Ben Helmsing, who died intestate Oct. 3, leaving approximately $500 in property and cash. Helmsing has a brother, Henry Helmsing, in Nebraska, and a sister, Elizabeth Goeke, in Ohio.

A colored young man by the name of France Andra put on a program of song and dancing, accompanied on the piano by another colored young man by the name of Fred Smith. Their program elicited much applause.

Twigg resides at 1111 East Santa Ana street, Anaheim. The other members of the quintet are Chuck Borland, 329 North Wood street, Fullerton; Hank Rankin, 520 East Fifth street, Santa Ana; Stanley Logsdun, 112 West Pine, Santa Ana; and Norman Noice, Finley hotel, Santa Ana. This is the saxophone group which recently won the prize in the California hour program, broadcast over Radio KHJ.

Townsendites to the number of 125 gathered at Westminster I. O. O. F. hall, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. Representatives were present from all the Townsend clubs of that part of the county. Judge Bentley presided at the request of the Townsendites. Bentley is Democratic committee man from Westminster. The speakers of the evening were Harry R. Sheppard, Townsend indorsed Democratic nominee for congress, and Harry C. Westover, Democratic nominee for the state senate from Orange county. A very enthusiastic meeting was held.

ELIGIBLE IN FEBRUARY
Ineligible for football under the transfer rule, slender Tommy Sullivan from the University of Oklahoma must wait until spring to flash his athletic wares before Santa Ana's Dons.

Sullivan was a fair punting back on Oklahoma prep grids, but cannot do anything here in a football way until next fall, and must remain at junior college during the present semester to establish his eligibility in another love-track.

Action speaks louder than words, but Thompson has medals to go with claims that he has run the century in 10 flat, the quarter-mile in 50 flat and the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.7.

Depleted by graduation, the J. C. cinderpath ranks will welcome with open arms this out-of-state speedster.

GRID CARAVAN FRIDAY

Going to the Don-Citrus game at Azusa tomorrow night? A caravan, led by President Vic Rowland of the Associated Students, will start in front of the junior college building promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Game-time is 8 sharp. The public is invited to join the students.

The parade of cars may resemble a funeral procession en route home. The Dons, whose titular hopes are fading this fall, haven't beaten Citrus since that 13-0 thriller at Azusa in '32.

Harold Welty, who escaped off-tackle and hot-footed it 84 yards for one of those touchdowns four years ago, is employed in Santa Ana. Welty, rated by A. J. (Bill) Cook as the greatest full-back he has coached in 10 years at junior college, saw the Dons record the 13-0 and 19-0 victories over Glendale and Long Beach. He believes the club should run the left side more often. Welty likes Joe Herbert at full back better than at quarter back. Bill Greshner highly in the back position.

NIGHTBALL SELECTIONS

Tom Denney, Santa Ana's leftfielder in nightball who coaches at Roosevelt High school in Los Angeles, officiated at the recent Fullerton-Glendale grid game. Denney is assistant coach of the Presidents in football, head coach in baseball.

Rudy Heman of Olive, who hit .467 for Riverside; and Bill Sweet, who hit .500 for Covina, have been named pitcher and first baseman on the American Nightball league's all-star team picked by the Riverside Enterprise. Other selections: John Norton (.270) of San Bernardino, catcher; Bill Hunter (.349) of Riverside, second base; Dory Strain (.308) of San Bernardino, third base; Wayne Watson (.351) of San Bernardino, shortstop; Loyola (.421) of Riverside, leftfield; Gillie Gilhouse (.346) of Covina, centerfield; Dan Tucker (.390) of Riverside, rightfield.

OILERS TO PLAY AGAIN FRIDAY
Manager Joe Rodgers announced today his Southern California nightball champions will play one more game before packing away their uniforms in moth balls.

The Oilers will engage the Long Beach City league champions, the View Dairies, and their promising pitcher with the weird windup, Jay Brinkley, in the Huntington Beach park, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Rodgers has his eye on Brinkley, with prospects of bringing him into the National league next year.

Dons Replace Injured Bolton With Roquet Parmelee, Collins

CITRUS PICKS LINEUP; FAUL GETS TRIAL

Anaheim's 210-Pounder Will Alternate With Former Orange Star

Russell Roquet, the 210-pound red-head from Anaheim High, will replace Tackle Clarence Bolton in Santa Ana Junior college's line-up for the Dons' Eastern conference football premiere with Citrus at Azusa tomorrow night.

Bolton has been out of suit all week with a badly wrenched knee, and will be unable to perform against Al Claves' troublesome Owls, whose all-star array will be at least a 50-50 favorite to knock over the potentially potent Dons.

Roquet is the ponderous one who kicks off for the Dons, and is adept at punting. He also can play fullback, and if shifted to the back position later in the game tomorrow, Roquet will be replaced at tackle by Bob Faul, 175-pounder who gained all-county league recognition for his fine play at Orange High last fall.

Ray Devine, 185-pound letterman, will start at the other tackle. Coaches Bill Cook and Blanchard Beatty are undecided whom they will employ at running guard, but 185-pound Carl Benson, a rangy, aggressive letterman, is certain to start at standing guard. The ends will be Co-Captain Al Titensor and Fred Erdhaus, with last year's Saint pilot, Erwin Youel, and Letterman Harry Stanley deserving early calls. Big Bob Holmes will open at center, with Dan Boyd, the scrapper from Oceanside, due for considerable service.

The starting backfield will be Bill Greshner, quarter; Mac Beall or Al Lamb, left half; Fred Lentz, right half; and Co-Captain John Lehnardt, fullback. Citrus' lineup, announced today, will include the elusive Jim Montgomery, Eastern all-conference threat, and Art Wright at halfback. Pete Shirlz at quarter, Ernie Poore at fullback, and Howard Karjola and Till Timmons on the wings. Ray Brown and Emery Bell at tackle, Dick Farmer and Steve Polopolis at guard, and Bill Trevethick at center, representing one of the most formidable collections in the southern associations.

SAINT-CHAFFEY GAME MAY BE SHIFTED
Because its new stadium is not completed, Chaffey High school will request the Tigers' home game with Santa Ana's Saints a week from tomorrow be shifted to another field.

The non-league skirmish with Chaffey, however, held little interest today for the Saints, who are concentrating on their Coast league opener with Glen Broderick's horrible Hillers at San Diego Saturday afternoon. San Diego will rule at least a two-touchdown favorite.

Coaches Bill Foote and Reece Greene were to pick their starting lineup for the Saints after a brief drill at Poly field today.

Tiernen's Hockey Quintet Host to Anaheim Tonight

Tiernen's Typists, leading team at the Santa Ana Roller Skating rink at Fourth and Van Ness streets, will play Anaheim on the home floor at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Anaheim is rated a slight favorite.

The probable lineups:

Midget Cars Race On Gilmore Oval

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Throttling Mel Hansen goes to the post at Gilmore speedway tonight, determined to capture the second main event of his career.

The midget auto racer came through a week ago with an upset victory over the favorite, Karl Young, and set an American lap record in addition. Charlie Allen's No. 12, twice wrecked in recent programs, has been repainted "13" to get rid of its jinx.

Drills for Gaels

Record Crowd Expected To See Loyola Play St. Mary's Sunday

Coach Tom Lieb, former Notre Dame player, is busily pacing his Loyola Lions through strenuous workouts for their stiff encounter with St. Mary's Gaels, 10-0 victors over California, in the Coliseum Sunday afternoon.

The Catholic eleven, two of the most colorful in the West, are expected to play before a record crowd. There will be a low admission of $1.10 for all reserved seats in the Los Angeles stadium with a capacity of 105,000. The game will start at 2:15.

Tickets may be secured at Bullock's, Seventh and Broadway; Donovan and Seamans, Seventh and Olive; and Broadway-Hollywood and Desmonds Wilshire store; or reservations may be obtained from the ticket department at Loyola university.

TUSTIN READY FOR ORANGE

Citrus Plays at Brea, Puente at Valencia, Cards at Fullerton

Both with new strength at quarterback, Tustin's Tilters and Orange's Panthers will present two well-balanced eleven that should wage an interesting battle under the Municipal bowl arcs tomorrow night.

Tustin's hopes have soared with the return of Paul Francis, the hard-running little safety who was missing with a head injury when Coach Bill Cole's Tustins lost to Garden Grove, 13-0, last week. Coach Stewart White of Orange believes in Max Fletcher, star of the team, who was out of action a 19-6 win over Oceanside, he has uncovered a boy who may out his veteran, Larry Timken, at quarter.

Admission will be 25 cents for tomorrow night's attraction.

Citrus plays at Brea, Puente at Valencia in Placentia, San Bernardino at Anaheim, and Whittier at Fullerton tomorrow afternoon.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

LOYOLA FIRED UP FOR GAELS SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Coach Tom Lieb of Loyola intends to follow the old theory that a good offense is the best defense when his Lions play St. Mary's here Sunday.

Lieb's backfield, averaging about 170 pounds, is an all-around unit. Joe Labozetta, at quarterback, Bill Byrne and Jack Foley at half and Dominic Noceria at fullback.

Loyola is unmistakably fired up for the Gael encounter.

BEARS ENTRAIN FOR OREGON STATE GAME

BERKELEY. (AP)—Thirty-five University of California football players, pronounced in top condition after three days of grueling scrimmages, will entrain tonight for Corvallis, where Saturday they will meet the conference schedule against Oregon State college.

Coach L. B. (Stub) Allison planned heavy workouts for today and tomorrow afternoon.

GRID PICTURE CLEARS OVER WEEK-END

Intersectional Contests Will Reveal Source of Nation's Power

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Football's national championship setup, ordinarily a rather doubtful guessing game until the late November clashes, gives the fans and experts their clearest October picture in years with this week-end's engagements.

When the smoke of battle, sectionally and intersectionally, drifts away from coast to coast this Saturday night, you'll have a pretty fair idea of where the greatest gridiron power of the year lies, and just which highly regarded favorites can't make the grade.

It has been years, if ever before, since October's second week-end produced the A-Number One program provided for this Saturday, headed by the battle of Pittsburgh power-house against Ohio State's Buckeyes in the day's biggest game.

The elimination of either one will go a long way toward clearing up the championship picture.

Troy Has Edge
Intersectionally, in addition to the Panther-Buckeye battle, are such other get-togethers with an important bearing on the title situation as Southern California and Illinois, Fordham and the Southern Methodist aerial circus, and Michigan State's invasion against Carnegie Tech's always dangerous Skiloids.

Coming east to the Illini lair, Howard Jones is bringing what shapes up as the strongest Southern California combinations since 1932. The Trojans stand out as the team to beat on the Pacific coast, with U. C. L. A. and Washington, who fight it out this week-end, and St. Mary's, victor over California last week, as their strongest rivals.

The trek of the S. M. U. Mustangs to New York to meet Fordham's Rams shows up as the hardest game in which to pick the winner beforehand. S. M. U. is heavier than in years, but possesses the same air-filling overhead attack. Fordham showed great strength, however, with a 69-7 victory over F. M. last Saturday.

Columbia, Army Meet
Michigan State, conqueror of Michigan, gets a stern test against Carnegie, beaten by Notre Dame in a tough fight. If the Spartans pull through, they must be rated an important spot in Midwestern councils.

Louisiana State and Georgia will furnish some idea in their meeting of the comparative strength of a pair of leaders for all Southern honors.

Columbia's hopes for another Rose Bowl trip hinge on the result against Army's fast charging forward line, a feature of eastern engagement. Yale's veterans and Penn's untied but well regarded Quakers should give a slant on "Ivy League" strength, although untested Princeton, meeting a weak Rutgers team, is still to be heard from.

Minnesota's long victory run faces a decided threat in the Midwest clash with Nebraska's Cornhuskers, who almost pulled the 1935 game out of the hat. Notre Dame has a breather on tap in Washington U. of St. Louis.

Willowick Women Open Golf Play at Home Monday

Mrs. H. A. Bradley and Mrs. P. A. Hooven won first and second places with scores of 34 and 33, respectively, in a point-tournament over the Willowick golf course yesterday.

The Willowick women are preparing for their South Coast Babe Ruth team, which will meet the "Lions" first match with Huntington Beach at Willowick Monday. Long Beach and the Green Hills course of Whittier, other members of the league, clash on the same day.

Enters Movies

Olympic Champion Jesse Owens Will Appear as Detective on Screen

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Jesse Owens, the sprinter, is going to be a detective—in the movies.

Passing through Cleveland on a speaking tour, Owens said he would start to work before the camera in New York in about two weeks on the first of two pictures. The movie, as yet unnamed, will have an all-negro cast, he said.

There won't be anything about these movies that will affect his status as an amateur athlete," said Owens, who already is under a year's suspension by the Amateur Athletic union.

"I'm not to run or jump or hurdle or anything like that. Both are mystery stories. Plenty of amateur athletes have played in pictures which do not require them to give exhibitions of their athletic ability, you know."

JESSE SPEAKS BEFORE CINCINNATI VOTERS
CINCINNATI. (AP)—Jesse Owens, negro Olympic star, made a Republican political speech last night before a crowd which Jack Rubenstein, ward said was much smaller than expected. The reason, he declared, was that a truck went through the negro quarters a half hour before time for the rally, bearing the sign:

"Jesse Owens has left town; meeting called off."

Rubenstein said it took "some time" to convince residents that Owens was waiting for them, as scheduled.

MAXIE MOORE FACES TEST TONIGHT

Lupe Must Win to Get Chance at Wild Bill Boyd, Navy Champ

Odell Polee, black, beady-eyed exterminator from Central avenue, and Lupe LeMon, stocky, rugged Fullerton Mexican, contribute a heavyweight climax to tonight's Orange County Athletic club boxing card that shows everything from 100 to 200-pounds.

A high-geared negro with a long left hand, Polee is likely to give LeMon a boxing lesson and spoil Promoter Bob Singleton's well-laid plans to match his meat-ticket with "Wild Bill" Boyd, champion of the Pacific fleet, here a week from tonight.

Polee Can Punch
Polee main-evented Monday's amateur program at the Los Angeles Olympic, and punched out an easy decision over Eddie Shea.

That the big black also is a puncher is evident from his knockouts over "Bud" McCarter and Jesse Brazill. But fancy footwork is Polee's chief asset and his handlers are confident he'll stab out a win over the plodding LeMon.

Two other heavies are on the O. C. A. C. lineup in one of the preliminaries. Bob Martin of Tustin is introducing big Ernie Schive, also of Tustin. Schive's first assignment is against Fred Imhoff, at 190 pounds.

The semi-windup pairs Raoul Solis and Ray Garry, lightweight. Solis is in the midst of a winning streak.

Westminster's Art Arroya, another comeback kid, pitches battle with Jack Allen in the special event. The weights are 148.

Maxie Moore, Santa Ana Jaycee football player, draws a tough customer in Tommy Morgan, Los Angeles 135-pounder.

Tino Munoz of Anaheim takes on Leonard Gibbs at 155, Little Barney Rees, the human dynamo, again gives away poundage in milling with Tino Sanchez. Arch Pollock and Henry Moberly mix at 170. Popular Jimmy Merced opens the show with Corby Gibbs. They are 126-pounds.

TANFORAN RACE TRACK OPENS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Tanforan race track's 25-day fall meeting opens today with a $2000 added six-furlong sprint for all ages.

Leading thoroughbreds of the West and many from Eastern stables—some 900 horses in all—are on hand for the meeting, which inaugurates the 153-day fall and winter campaign on California's major tracks.

Red Wagon, an eastern entry by Mrs. Ivan H. Parke, will carry top weight of 113 pounds in the impressive field of 14 in the opening handicap. Other favorites include Gay Edward, Red Wagon's running mate, Uppermost, the H. C. Hatch mare, and Fair Lead, a Northway stable entry whose jockey, Frank Chojnacki, is the country's leading rider.

LEON AMES DIES
WARREN, Ohio. (AP)—Leon J. Ames, 54, former pitcher for the New York Giants and other National league clubs, died here today after a long illness.

Ames won 23 games and lost 10 for the Giants in 1911. He played for the New York club in the World Series of 1911, 1912 and 1913, but the Giants were beaten by American league clubs each year.

Later Ames pitched for the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals and ended his pitching days with Kansas City about 12 years ago.

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Jim ("Ripper") Collins, first baseman, and LeRoy Parmelee, pitcher, had been traded to the Chicago Cubs for Lon Warneke, pitcher, in a straight played deal involving no cash.

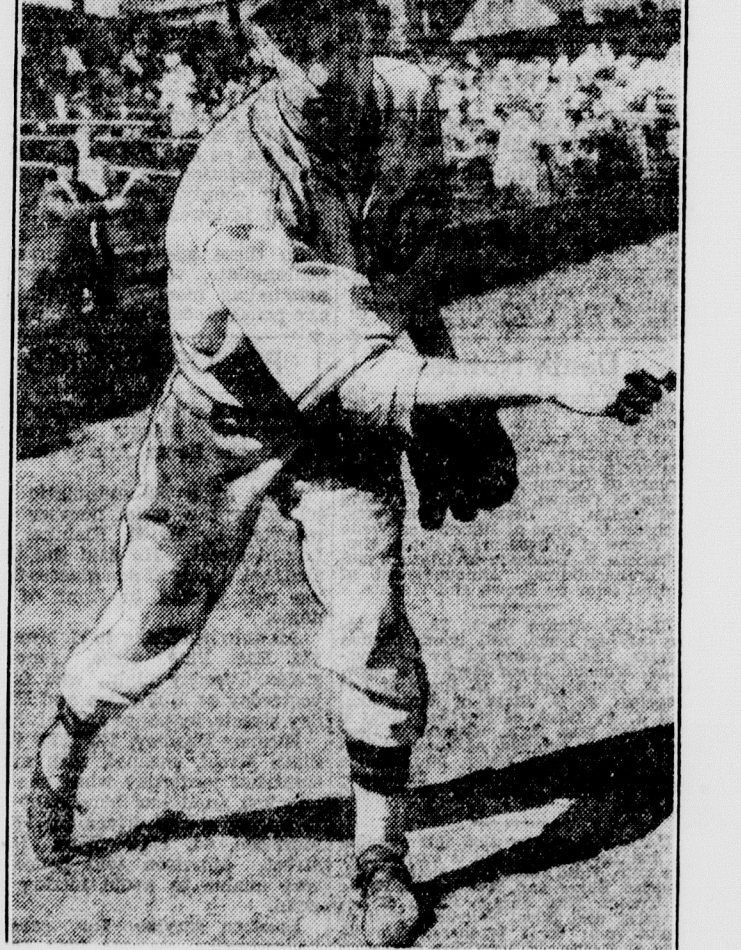

Collins is a product of the Cardinals' farm-system and was brought to the Redbirds direct from Rochester of the International league, a Class AA asset of the St. Louis club. Until this year, he has been a regular and one of the best distance-hitters on the club. This season he slumped badly and gave way at first base to recruit Johnny Mize.

With Dizzy Dean and Warneke, the Cardinals assured themselves of a nucleus for what may be the best pitching staff in the major leagues. The return of Paul Dean, who went into voluntary retirement toward the end of last season with an arm ailment, would give them a "big three" probably without equal in baseball today.

PITCHER LON (DICK) WARNECKE Traded to Cards for Parmelee, Collins

The Warneke trade was expected to be the forerunner of a series of others designed to strengthen the Cardinals, who cracked in the stretch drive and barely lasted to the far second place with the Cubs.

Warneke Great Rightlander
Parmelee came to the Cardinals last winter from the New York Giants in a straight player deal by which Second-basemen Burgess Whitehead went to Manhattan to get a loser's share in the late World Series. He started off well but failed to finish many games in the last half of the season.

Warneke has been the ace of the Cub pitching staff for several seasons and is regarded as one of the best right-handed hurlers in either big league.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

IT'S PROBABLY none of my business, but I've been wondering if Santa Ana's going to do anything about Buena Park's celebration next Saturday?

The celebration's yearly event, only this year there's doubt as to the parade and program. The new railroad crossing at Northern junction is finished, and Buena Parkers want to tell the world about it.

Last year, at the industrial celebration, nearly every city was represented by a decorated car. All except the county seat. Feelings were hurt last year. Hope it's not the same, this time!

Yes, and speaking of celebrations, the mattress manufacturers are at work again in Anaheim, preparing for the annual Halloween celebration.

Official word has gone out that maids must wear whiskers or suffer. Merchant leaders admit the celebrants will probably suffer anyway, from the unaccustomed beads, but indignities to be heaped on non-growers will be much worse. That's a promise!

Right now leading merchants are in very high class dither. High school boys sort of stole a march on 'em. When word went out that facial foliage was to be necessary, it was discovered that the youthful element had anticipated the order and had been growing whiskers for a week or so.

And to date the striplings have outgrown their dithers, as far as matted maps are concerned.

It's worth remembering about this beard-growing contest. If some bedraggled individual with a couple of weeks' growth of whiskers asks you for a dime, think twice before turning him down. It may be a merchant, or Chief of Police Jim Boudin, or somebody!

I'm expecting to see everyone who owns a camera parked on the banks of Newport bay beginning Nov. 1, when the chamber of commerce photograph contest opens.

On that date entries will be received for pictures in three classes—boating and yachting subjects, beach and general bay and shore scenes—even seagulls—and action and other miscellaneous subjects. The last might mean bathing girls, but there aren't very many of 'em after Nov. 1. Or are there?

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be offered in each class, and hot competition is expected. The committee in charge is led by Theodore Robbins, assisted by Sidney Davidson and M. S. "Robby" Robinson, yachtsman and editor who sometimes gets himself thrown off piers and things.

So if you have a good snapshot of little Oscar sailing in a tub on the bay, or digging for crabs on the beach, or some such shot, send it in! Maybe Oscar'll get his picture in the paper!

Usually I don't like reviews. Especially reviews of plays. But when someone writes a review and puts a question mark after it—like this—"Review?"—then that's different. Dunno why, exactly, but one'd think that H. O. Poort in his Town Topics at Laguna wasn't exactly thrilled to death over a recent production in his town. Here's what he said:

Surrounded by the lush draperies of the Mauve Decade, Oscar Wilde issued his challenge in "Sahome"—a challenge which was met with a dashing wave of audacity last week-end by the cast of the Little Art Theater. . . . and Wilde went down in ignominious defeat midst an adolescent Roman soldiery and a shadowed group of Slavic Sadoceuses. The startling combination of Herodias's Kansian dialect and her Madame Butterfly technique with the fan could only be topped by apparently comparing the more eager grief of Herod over the suicide of the faithful Syrian captain with his apathy toward the projected dance of his voluptuous step-daughter. Let it be said, though, that we believe with adequate direction Halmar Forrest has definite possibilities in the theater. But—why don't the little theater stick to comedy? It's so much more fun.

This is what a guy gets for having too much time on his hands! Here I sit, with nothing to do. So, the dictionary being in use elsewhere, I turn to the telephone book. My, what a nice list of Smiths, and Joneses and Browns! Grazing among the names, the title of a well known L. A. department store pops up. It seems to be in the directory for each town. Says to call the operator and give her the L. A. number. Further investigation brings the report that the phone call costs nothing. Smart people, these here city slickers, huh?

LAGUNA BEACH.—Laguna's new city hall was still up in the air today, after the city council failed to take definite action on a plan of the Community Players group whereby the city would take over property on Ocean avenue at a total cost of $3500.

Although council members gave the proposition favorable consideration and agreed the price for the property compared favorably with what would be asked on the open market, no official move was taken to acquire the building site.

No Action
Councilmen said last night that no action has been taken on similar offers from the chamber of commerce and library.

The Community Players offered their land to the council for $3500, pointing out the property carries about $3100 indebtedness.

Leslie F. Kimmell appeared on behalf of the Laguna Beach Humane society and requested the council to take up the matter of securing services of a poundmaster or caretaker for the operation of the animal shelter now nearing completion.

Discuss Beach Wear
Pending filing of a committee report, no action was taken on a request submitted several months ago by the city recreation commission for a small cash contribution in financing the initial outlay for establishing a day and night nursery here.

Abbreviated beach wear, permitting a display of hairy chests and feminine curves on the streets, came to the fore again last night with the reading of a communication from the Laguna Beach University Women's club, endorsing the stand taken by the Business and Professional Women's club, demanding proper dress for beach habits on public streets.

Applications submitted some time ago by the two local taxicab companies for franchise to operate a city bus line, were denied. It was held there is no urgent need for that type of service in the community.

Driving Charge

COSTA MESA.—Bert Bartholomew and son, Frank Bartholomew, 25, both of 201 Amethyst street, Balboa Island, appeared on a charge of driving after suspension of their operator's license. Before Justice D. J. Dodge here Friday. The licenses were suspended when a car registered to the father and driven by the son, was involved in an accident near Tyrone's camp on Coast highway about a year ago.

When the Bartholomews were unable to pay the judgment for damages, both licenses were suspended, according to Judge Dodge. However, it is alleged they continued operating the car until recently when the matter was brought to the attention of the authorities. Preliminary hearing was waived and both were bound over to superior court. The maximum sentence is a year in jail and $1000 fine.

Beach Art Gallery

LAGUNA BEACH.—Included among canvases submitted for the October-November exhibit of the Laguna Beach Art association, which opens tomorrow at the galleries on Cliff drive, is a large memorial painting, "The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave," the work of Karl Yens, nationally known painter who makes his home here.

The painting, aside from its artistic value, is a tribute to members of congress who voted against America's participation in the World War. Their names, printed in gold, appear at the extreme right and the left, and on the top of the picture.

In the very center of the picture is the symbolic Tree of Life behind which, dimly seen is the Holy Grove and beyond that, water. At the base of the Tree of Life is seen a reclining feminine figure, half concealed beneath a branch of palm leaves. Occupying a prominent place in the foreground is a tablet, on which is inscribed a eulogy to lawmakers who voted against America's entry into the war.

After the picture has been exhibited at various places, it may be dedicated to one of the leading patriotic societies, it was announced by the artist.

ELECT LEADERS FOR CENTER
SPEAKER HITS
CHAIN STORES

ORANGE.—The Home Department of the Foothill Farm center met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Royal J. Mueller, South Tustin street, for election of officers, with Mrs. H. H. Gardner re-elected president, Mrs. Harold Brewer, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Porter, secretary; Mrs. J. A. Mueller, county director; project chairmen, Mrs. William G. Kothe, and Mrs. Anna Linnartz.

Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent, talked on "The Efficient Kitchen," illustrated with plans of various well arranged kitchens. Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Tustin, explained a number of the amendments to come before the voters in November.

ORANGE.—Five great financial units control 95 per cent of the wealth of the United States, and such a condition is an incentive to Communism, declared Joseph V. Guilfoyle, managing director of the Southern California Retail Hardware association, when he spoke before the Lions club Wednesday noon on the proposed "chain store" tax which will appear on the November ballot.

He said the tax, pyramided to the amount of $500 for each store above ten in a chain, really means but $1.37 per day or about 2 per cent of the volume of sales for larger stores, and 4 per cent for smaller bakery and candy chains. He denied the tax would increase prices, and cited 23 states where the tax is now in effect to prove his statement.

Lake to Head
Sanitary Board

GARDEN GROVE.—Reorganization of the board of directors of the Garden Grove sanitary district, following election last month, was held at the monthly meeting of the board Tuesday evening. Charles Lake was re-elected president and C. J. Clark secretary.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mrs. Patrick Campbell, retired actress, who has leased a home at Emerald Bay, planned to leave today for New York on a brief business trip. Mrs. Campbell at one time held a prominent place on the English and American stage.

SHAM DEBUTANTE

By SHARON WYNNE

When Gay Needham, whose home is a Western ranch, inherits a large sum of money, her mother takes her to New York to break into society. A contract is signed with Bernal Van Gordon, an agent, who arranges for any to have a joint debut with Irene Stremley-Gay supplying the money, and the Stremleys the social prestige. The arrangement and Gay's background are, of course, kept secret. Rodney Singer, wealthy socialite, falls in love with Gay. Irene, who wants Rodney for herself, is enraged. For reasons of her own, she starts leaving Gay's brother, Jock, a mad chase.

Gay did not reply. So that was the way Rodney felt. Oh, he must never, never know the truth about her. Pretending to be something she was not!

The next day, Irene stopped in to see Gay. "You certainly played the part of a fool last night," she said bluntly.

"But Mary Milbraum is sweet. I felt so . . ."

"Of all the people in that room, you could least afford to pull such a stunt!" Irene interposed.

Mrs. Needham entered the room just then.

"Van Gordon has just phoned," she said nervously. "He's terribly wrought up over something you did last night, Gay. What was it?"

"Oh, dear," said Mrs. Needham. "I'm afraid that was very unwise, Gay."

Shortly afterward, Van Gordon himself appeared.

"This Milbraum mess is bad," he barked. "I thought you knew better, Miss Needham. I've been afraid that people were already getting a little suspicious. This will increase their suspicions."

"Well, then, why don't you do something?" Irene jumped up impatiently. "A scandal right now would . . ." She bit her lip.

Van Gordon was thoughtful a moment. "I think," he mused, "I might align myself with the racing set. That crowd just now is mainly at Southampton. I suggest, Mrs. Needham, that you close this house temporarily and take a place at Southampton until this blows over. Didn't you tell me you had a string of race horses at the ranch?"

"Please," she pleaded. "Don't cry so."

But the other girl continued to sob. "I—I don't care about myself, b-b-but you, Conley. They are your friends!"

"What's the difference?" Conley spoke cheerfully. "As long as a fellow like Rod Sinclair stands by, tell you what—let's make this a party. The four of us will do a show, then a night club."

"Yes—let's!" Gay spoke impulsively as she noticed a look of reluctance on Rodney's face.

And then, the four went in the Milbraum limousine, and Mary Milbraum was driving her eyes, powdering her nose. Gay and Mary liked each other instantly. The evening proved a success, despite its unhappy beginning.

But when Gay and Rodney were on their way home, he said:

"You shouldn't have done that, Gay. After all, the girl is just a housemaid. Nice of you to defend her but, after all, not even Con's parents have accepted her, you know."

"But, she's lovely!" Gay protested.

"Yes," Rodney agreed. "But when people step out of their class and pretend they're something they're not, it just means trouble."

MICHELSEN IS
G. G. JUNIOR
LEADER

GARDEN GROVE.—Temporary officers chosen for the recently organized junior chamber of commerce were named as permanent officers for the remainder of the year at a dinner meeting her Tuesday evening. They are: Ralph Michelsen, president; George Tobias, first vice president; J. W. Mitchell, second vice president; Gerald Will, secretary, and Walter Donovan, treasurer.

Four directors also were elected, including Harry L. Lake, Allen Goddard, John Ward and Lester Frink. The next general meeting of the body was announced for Oct. 20 at the chamber of commerce building.

Orange Rebekahs
To Attend Dance

ORANGE.—Ruby Rebekah lodge members accepted an invitation from the Anaheim lodge to attend a Halloween dance Oct. 16, when the Ruby lodge held its regular meeting Monday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. Flora Delle Cox, noble grand, presided. It was announced that the next meeting of the group, Oct. 19, will also be in the form of a Halloween party.

Following a business meeting, a card party was held, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Elizabeth Roedick and Ed Windolph in pinocle, and Mrs. Marnie Meyers and Mrs. Martha Van De Walker in 500. Ice cream and wafers were served by Mrs. Hattie Pulley, Mrs. Rose Smith, Mrs. Annette Banker and Mrs. Laura Bowen. Two visitors were present, Mrs. Maude Roberts, Broken Bow, Nebr., and Mrs. W. E. Nelson, Bakersfield.

British Writer
Laguna Visitor

LAGUNA BEACH.—Included among recent arrivals at Hotel Laguna is Ralph Stock, English writer, for the past few years connected with the British-Gaumont and other motion picture studios in England.

thing I want to talk to Gay about."

"What?" Mrs. Needham asked suspiciously.

"About that purifyin' plant. There's a lot of sickness this year. That irrigatin' water never was so bad. Thought Gay might like to put up some money—"

"I would!" Gay said quickly, but her mother interposed.

"Nonsense! You need your money for other things."

And that seemed to settle it. "How long will you be here, John?" Mrs. Needham asked her husband.

"Guess I'll be leavin' tomorrow. "Why don't you stay, Daddy?" Gay pleaded.

But Mrs. Needham again objected. "Why, look at him. Those clothes, that hat! He'd disgrace us. No, it is better, John, for you to go back to the ranch."

Pa swallowed hard. "Guess you are right, Ma. But first, I think I'll amble down to Virginia to see Celia at that school. There's something about her letters—she's restless and unhappy. I'll stop down there and see her, where I'll go back and stay where I belong."

Mrs. Needham was thoughtful for a few minutes.

"I wonder," she said slowly, "whether it wouldn't be a good idea to take Jock with you." She looked at her husband. "He's been drinking too much, and gambling, and there's an actress who—seems to be a bad influence. If he'd go back to the ranch for a few months—I'm worried about him. Oh, sometimes I wish we'd never come east!"

The sudden intensity of her mother's voice made Gay look at her sharply.

"Why don't you chuck it all and come home?" Pa pleaded.

"We can't, Pa. We've a year's contract with Van Gordon."

"I see. Well, I'll see what I can do about Jock anyway."

But later, when Pa saw Jock, his hope that the boy might go home with him was quickly dispelled.

"Not as long as I can toddle about Broadway," Jock answered. "Pa did succeed, however, in making the boy sit down and listen to him, and, before he finished, Jock's bored air had left him. Finally he took his father's hand."

"You're right, Dad, about all of us," he said huskily. "But I've some gambling debts. I couldn't leave now. In a few months—maybe . . ."

"They stood then, face to face, hands clasped—nearer to each other than they had been for a long time. Then Jock went out, and Pa dropped wearily into a chair."

CALIFORNIA'S EARLY DAYS RECALLED

Historical Project to Put On Program Over
KVOE Tonight

What Californians were in the way of styles before, during and after the discovery of gold; stories of clothing so elegant and rich in gold and silver trimmings that today's Beau Brummels would be put to shame; stories of clothing that lasted several generations; also interesting accounts of what the early Californians liked best in the way of food will be told in this evening's WPA historical research project broadcast from KVOE at 8:30.

These broadcasts are scheduled every Thursday at the same hour.

RAFT FILM DUE AT WALKER'S

The story of a gambling house operator who goes after the society crowd and falls in love with a society girl, is told in "Yours for the Asking," the feature picture which tops Friday's and Saturday's bill at Walker's theater.

On the same bill is one of the famous Charlie Chan detective films, "Charlie Chan at the Race Track" with Warner Oland in the starring role.

George Raft is featured in "Yours for the Asking" with Dolores Costello Barrymore as the society girl. Others in the cast are Ida Lupino, Reginald Owen, James Gleason, Lynne Overman, "Skeets" Gallagher, Edgar Kennedy, Huntley Gordon, Betty Blythe and Olive Tell.

In "Charlie Chan at the Race Track," Oland as the Chinese detective solves a murder mystery and uncovers a plot of gamblers revolving about a famous race horse. In the end he brings the gamblers to justice, though not before they have succeeded in killing the great horse.

In the cast with him are Keye Luke, Helen Wood, Thomas Beck, Alan Dinehart and Frankie Darro.

WESTERN FILM FOR STATE

Dick Foran, the singing cowboy, is starred in "Treacher on the Range" which shows for two days at the State theater beginning Friday. It is the story of the early days in the West when the Indians went on the warpath and the United States cavalry roamed the country in an effort to keep things peaceful.

Foran in this one plays the part of an army captain who saves the colonel's daughter played by Paula Stone, from not only the Indians, but also from a band of renegade whites. Others in the cast include Monte Blue, Jim Thorpe and Craig Reynolds.

Rounding out the film fare will be a Tim and Irene comedy, "It Happened All Right"; a Merrie Melody cartoon, "Let Love Take Orders," chapter No. 11 of "Rex and Rinty," and a newsreel.

PAUL KELLAR TO PLAY TONIGHT

Special arrangements of popular tunes of the day and of yesterday will be offered by "The Musical Salesman," Paul Kellar, in tonight's presentation by O. R. Hahn, Chrysler and Plymouth distributor for Orange county at 505 South Main street in Santa Ana, on KVOE at 8:45, to be announced and conducted by Harold Fogel, salesmanager of the organization.

Tonight's list of piano melodies by Kellar will include "Cabin on the Hilltop," "Would You," "Sylvia," "You and the Moon and Me" and "When It's Harvest Time in Peaceful Valley."

The popular, local pianist, is programmed every Tuesday and Thursday night at the same hour.

Sons of Pioneers on KVOE Tonight

The Sons of the Pioneers at 6:45 tonight will sing a favorite Stephen Foster song and one of their most popular, original compositions.

"Some Folks" and "Way Out There" will be the featured numbers. Others will include "Home in Wyoming," and a fiddle solo by Hugh Farr, "Hifalutin'."

Gets 10-Day Term On Check Charge

Thornton Miller, 1327 West First street, must serve 10 days in the county jail, with 50 more suspended, Judge John Mitchell ruled Tuesday when Miller was arrested and brought into court on a petty theft charge.

M. C. Holmberg, 801 West Washington street, said Miller gave him a 99-cent check for groceries, giving a fictitious address.

The area of the District of Columbia is 70 square miles.

Characters Are Analyzed
by William E. Benton of Los Angeles

William E. Benton, Los Angeles, self-styled "human engineer," gave a demonstration of character analysis and spoke on reading personality in appearances at yesterday's Kiwanis club meeting.

His "findings":

C. E. Walker—sensitive, spiritual, "nose for news" and liking for music, literally and figuratively thin-skinned.

E. F. Elstrom—round, jolly, good mixer, eager, persuasive, agreeable, with a flair for advertising and secretive about personal affairs.

Dr. Milo Tedstrom—jovial, chatty, reverent, sensitive.

Harry Westover—good talker, eager, friendly, doesn't take himself too seriously, not violently partisan.

Loren Moore—quiet, respectful, ability for organization, likes travel, good sense of location.

Sam Hurwitz—good mixer, sense of humor mixed with satire, sensitive stomach.

Benton was introduced by E. F. Elstrom, program chairman. Frank Rosapaw, editor of the Placencia Courier and president of the California Newspaper Publishers' association, extended greetings on the part of California newspapers on the occasion of the third annual Newspaper Week.

Rosapaw paid tribute to Orange county's five daily and 16 weekly newspapers, classing them as among the best in the United States. Publishing, California's second largest industry, he said, and ranks fourth in size nationally.

BREAKFASTERS HONOR FLAG

The Santa Ana Breakfast club paid tribute this morning at its regular meeting to "Old Glory" week, W. M. Clayton, vice principal of the Santa Ana High school, delivering the eulogy, in which he compared the white to purity, the red to the sacrifices made for the flag's preservation, and the blue to "the heavenly azure, for which we should always acknowledge Omnipotent guidance."

Clayton recited "Your Flag and My Flag" and other patriotic poems, exalting the symbol which stands for liberty, and urging an eternal vigilance on the part of the nation which has become great under its folds. An address on "Old Glory" to have been given by James Anderson, will be presented this evening before the American Legion.

V. L. Motry, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge here, official sponsor for "Old Glory" week, was introduced. The program was in charge of Fred Schneider, chairman, introduced June Arnold, teacher of expression, in a honey-moon dialogue, "Here We Are." Eddie Burns, in "cello numbers, was enthusiastically received. He was accompanied by Esther Vogt, pianist.

Raymond A. Wood, F. W. Sanford, James Henle, T. Paul Sheffield and Harvey A. Myers were accepted as new members.

++ Our Presidents ++ Zachary Taylor Believed in Voters Deciding Their Own Problems

Each of our presidents established principles of government. Our present American Democracy is based upon the principles established by our presidents and their political associates. The purpose of this series of sketches is to point out those American principles.—Robert Gardner. Today's sketch tells about Zachary Taylor.—Editor.)

Zachary Taylor was a rough and ready soldier. He won merit for gallantry in both the Northwest and Florida. He fought in the Black Hawk war. They called him "Old Rough and Ready." After he had won at Buena Vista and had overthrown Santa Anna he was praised by the entire nation, and climbed to the presidency on that grateful appreciation.

He was a Louisiana slaveholder. The Whigs were tired of the "on the fence" attitude in politics so a new platform was written for the "Free Soil" party.

Popular sovereignty was the keynote of the campaign. They claimed that the people in any territory had the right to decide whether it should be slave or free. This attitude found favor among some of the northern states and Taylor was elected.

This policy of "squatter sovereignty" gave rise to the people of California exercising their rights, and they made a constitution declaring California a free state. When they applied for statehood they asked for admission with slavery barred.

Taylor believed in letting the people decide for themselves what was right. The issue of slavery was becoming intense. The "Will not proviso" sought to exclude all slavery from the territory acquired from Mexico.

The compromise of 1850 was this: 1. California was admitted as a free state; 2. Slave trade—not slavery—was prohibited in the District of Columbia; 3. Utah and New Mexico were made territories with slavery prohibited; 4. A more strict fugitive slave law demanded cooperation of free states in returning fugitive slaves; 5. Texas was to be paid $10,000,000 for giving up her claim to what is now New Mexico.

The compromise was just another step toward secession. Taylor had a most trying administration. After he had been in office 16 months he became ill; and he died July 9, 1850. With his death began the downfall of the Whig party.

Born Nov. 24, 1784, he was the son of Richard Taylor, a soldier, and Sarah Strother. He was a member of the Episcopal church. Married in 1810 to Margaret Smith, he was the father of one son. In the 1848 election, he received 163 electoral votes. He died July 9, 1850.

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and R. Z. McKinney are in charge of the party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

BY THE REPUBLICANS
President Roosevelt's repudiation of radical support is the logical move of the astute, clever politician. The President knows that sensible men and women are in the majority in both the major parties. And he knows that sensible men and women are alarmed by radical teachings and philosophies that strike at the fundamental principles of our democratic, representative form of government.

Therefore, to quiet the fears of those who suspect, but are not sure, that the course of the New Deal is toward the left, the President comfortably says, "I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of Communism or any other alien 'ism' which would by fair means or foul change our American democracy."

That is the magic chemical that is supposed to dissolve the pink ink from the pages of the record of the New Deal administration, leaving them a shining white document of pure democracy. The fluid is ingeniously compounded but it does not remove the strong tint on the record pages.

Radical Support
Does the President forget how assiduously he attempted to change American democracy with his NRA and his AAA laws, how he defied the constitution in his attempt to force regimentation on this country, how he criticized the supreme court for holding against him, and how greatly he has been guided by the radical suggestions of Professor Tugwell?

It is foolish to think he has forgot any of this. He knows he has the support of the radical elements. What he needs most desperately is the support of those opposed to radicalism. They poll the heavy vote.

Naturally, the smart thing to do politically is to appeal to them. That is what he tried to do in his Syracuse speech.

He does not expect to lose radical support simply because he disowned it. He expects the radicals to understand he cannot publicly acknowledge them. If there are some who do not see through the strategy, where and to whom would they turn? Mr. Roosevelt is the candidate who has proved himself most friendly to their cause.

So, in taking a shot at them, the President is not risking much loss of support and he stands a chance of winning votes.

BY THE DEMOCRATS
David Lawrence, Republican propagandist, devoted his last Saturday's day by day letter to asserted support of Gov. Landon by alleged "Jeffersonian Democrats."

He says: "The most interesting development in this respect is the remarkable editorial in which the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, supporter of every Democratic nominee for the Presidency for 50 years, now has come out for Landon."

He also states: That the Post-Dispatch has made war on the "special interests" and the "princes of privilege," and has attacked "conservatism and entrenched greed"; and that that progressive newspaper, always fighting for the people and against privilege, has now turned from Roosevelt to Landon. The Post-Dispatch is referred to as a Pulitzer paper throughout all of the half.

The actual facts are as follows:
Pulitzer History
In 1896, when William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic presidential candidate, stood for everything that Mr. Lawrence says the Post-Dispatch has espoused, the New York World, then owned and edited by Joseph Pulitzer, vigorously and bitterly fought Bryan. The Post-Dispatch had then temporarily passed from the control of Pulitzer to Col. Charles H. Jones, its president, editor and manager, and actively supported Bryan.

Joseph Pulitzer, Jr., and Ralph Pulitzer, now publishing the Post-Dispatch, are the sons of Joseph Pulitzer and Kate Davis Pulitzer. Their mother was a cousin of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy. Mrs. Jefferson Davis during the last 10 years of her life received a regular salary from Joseph Pulitzer for occasional articles contributed to the World.

Joseph Pulitzer, although a soldier in the Union army, was always fanatical in his advocacy of "state sovereignty," the cause for which Jefferson Davis resigned from the United States senate and threw his fortunes with secession and rebellion.

The Pulitzers having always been consistently in favor of "states rights" and antagonistic to a strong federal government, on that issue they now oppose President Roosevelt and support Gov. Landon.

Asks $25,000 for Injuries to Back
Asking $25,000 damages for injuries to her back and arm, sustained May 24 in an accident on Main street, Balboa, Elizabeth B. Russell, Pasadena hotel owner, started suit yesterday against Marco James Anich, 18, and his parents, Pete and Helen Anich.

Mrs. Russell said she was walking across Main street when Anich backed his car into her, knocking her down and causing permanent injuries to her right arm.

JAMES B. UTT IS SUED ON NOTE DEAL

Will File Counter Action for $8000 Damages
Immediately

As if Assemblyman James B. Utt didn't have enough trouble on his hands in running for reelection on the Republican ticket.

Yesterday he was named defendant in a superior court suit started against him by Charles W. List of Los Angeles, for collection on a $2000 promissory note, dated Dec. 23, 1932.

Utt announced immediately he will file a counter-suit against List, through his attorney, Joel E. Ogle, asking damages, and charging fraud in a deal through which he gave List his note.

The assemblyman said the note was given as part purchase of a nursery, said by List to be his property, and to be under five-year lease. In the counter-suit, which he will file tomorrow Utt said he will complain that the nursery was foreclosed on by the Irvine Land company shortly after Utt had bought it, and that List did not own a 50 per cent interest in the property.

Ogle, who returned to Santa Ana from Mexico yesterday, said steps were already under way for filing of the counter-suit, and that damages of approximately $8000 will be asked.

Albert T. Blanford, Los Angeles, is List's attorney.

THE GIRL SCOUTS— A Community Chest Agency

The day when we can control the social relations of our children by confining our attention to the home has passed forever.

They drink the water of human companionship from many sources—in school, on the street, on the playground, in the church, at the movies, on the beach.

The Girl Scout program offers an opportunity for group activity under responsible adult leadership. It meets the problem of leisure time activities and gives an opportunity for service to others, practical training in household arts and crafts, training in good-sportsmanship, the development of a healthy mind and body.

Girl Scout activities in Santa Ana are made possible through our participation in the Community Chest. We ask that you give generously so that all of the agencies of the Chest may carry on their necessary work for the betterment of our city.

Mrs. A. N. Zerman Presides at Lovely Autumn Luncheon and Card Afternoon

Third Party in Series Given

Forty Are Invited to Afternoon Affair At Home

The third of a charming series of courtesies to her many friends was the bridge luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. A. N. Zerman at her home, 505 South Sycamore street.

Continuing a series of parties which began early in August, Mrs. Zerman yesterday chose to use the lovely autumn colors for her decoration scheme. Small vases of yellow pom-pom dahlias complemented with purple sage centered her dainty linen-spread luncheon tables, and great baskets of dahlias, chrysanthemums and other fall flowers in the same vivid shades decorated her living and dining rooms.

Luncheon placecards carrying out the same color scheme bore the names of Mrs. Elmer Burns, Mrs. Charles Carothers, Mrs. Richard Couden, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. D. A. Harwood, Mrs. Otto Hahn, Mrs. Harry Huffman, Mrs. Catherine Herr, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. C. A. Linwood, Mrs. I. F. Landis, Mrs. Mark Lacy, Mrs. Arthur May, Mrs. E. F. Morrow, Mrs. Ralph Mosher, Mrs. E. M. Neally.

Mrs. Max Reinhaus, Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, Mrs. W. N. Prince, Mrs. Anna M. Richards, Mrs. George S. Smith, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. W. N. Vandermaast, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. T. A. Winbiger, Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mrs. Rowland Yeagle, Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld, Mrs. Charles Kelly, Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mrs. Alex Brownridge, Mrs. F. W. Slaught, Mrs. John Zeilan, Mrs. George Paul, Mrs. Edith Brown, Mrs. Anna James, Mrs. Charles Norton and Mrs. G. P. Campbell.

Following the luncheon, contract was enjoyed. Mrs. Swales winning high and receiving a set of six pottery ramekins in a wire frame, Mrs. Zeilan receiving a similar prize for second high. Mrs. Prince being presented with a bean jar for third prize, and Mrs. Lacy receiving a pottery bowl for consolation.

CALVARY WOMEN PLAN BANQUET

The fifth anniversary of Calvary church will be celebrated Friday, Oct. 23, with a fellowship dinner party at the Ebelle clubhouse for members and their friends. It was decided yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the church executive board.

Mrs. John M. Sullivan conducted the business meeting of the group, and it was decided that the next regular meeting on Nov. 3 would be given over to a visit to the Mary Martha home for girls in Los Angeles.

The women also planned to begin preparations on a Christmas box to be sent their missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tuguey, in South America.

The business session was preceded by a delicious potluck luncheon, with creamed chicken and biscuits served by the hostess, Mrs. John Maret, who opened her attractive home at 1469 Orange avenue to the group.

Mrs. Winifred Smith presented the devotionals topic for the day, which was entitled "His Riches." Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Joseph Bicknese, Mrs. C. M. Gribble, Mrs. Charles H. Baldwin, Mrs. Mervin Black, Mrs. W. A. Chapman, Mrs. John M. Sutherland, Mrs. Lewis Gall, Mrs. Winifred Smith, Mrs. Donald Kyle, Mrs. D. P. Linnard, Mrs. Josephine Blood, Mrs. Joe Hazen, Mrs. James Pedersen, Mrs. F. E. Lindgren, Mrs. Grace Brewer, Mrs. William Breckenridge, and Mrs. A. P. Koontopp, and the hostess, Mrs. John Maret.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. William Metzger of Portland, N. D.; Mrs. T. M. Acord of Hedley, Texas, and Mrs. Arthur Blanding of Santa Ana.

BALLS LEAVE ON EASTERN TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. John Ball, 2308 Oakmont street, plan to leave late this week for Boston, Mass., where Dr. Ball will attend a series of post-graduate clinics at the Massachusetts General hospital.

The balls will then proceed to Philadelphia where Dr. Ball will attend the annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons. They will conclude their trip with visiting in Washington, D. C., New York, and New Orleans.

SIMPLICITY IN NEW HANDBAGS

The smartest bags designed for fall costume accessories are made of good materials and cut on the plainest lines. This big black leather envelope is accented only by three wide silver metal initials whose simplicity reflects that of the bag. It is carried with a black wool frock trimmed in silk braid simulating Persian lamb worn with a forward-flung toque of black felt accented by a fringe tassel.

TAU DELTA PHI PRESENTS GIFT TO HOSTESS

Mrs. Robert U. Smith of Santa Ana and Mrs. Douglass Ferry (Fauline Wells) of Los Angeles were co-hostesses to Tau Delta Phi club members Tuesday night, entertaining them at the former's home on North Flower street.

The club took this opportunity to present to Mrs. Ferry, a recent bride, a set of beautiful twin pictures as her wedding gift. Plans for benefit bridge around the Thanksgiving season were made, and the special prize of the evening was presented to Miss Norma Wilson. First prize in bridge went to Miss Evelyn Hutton.

Bronze and yellow tones were carried out in flowers and tallies, and dainty refreshments were served at the close to the Mesdames Betty Howell, Gordon Cudworth, J. McDuff, the Misses Albert Sanford, Lucille Howell, Norma Wilson, and Betty Vorce, and the hostesses.

DORCAS CLUB HAS HALLOWE'EN MEETING

Hallowe'en symbols decked the hall of the First Christian church educational building Monday night for the regular meeting of the Dorcas club, which was attended by 40 members and guests.

After the business session, presided over by Mrs. Kenneth Loughton, David Craighead, young pupil of Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, entertained with a group of piano solos which were greatly enjoyed; and at the close Hallowe'en refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated in appropriate colors.

Hostesses were the Mesdames Harry Becker, Fred Strong, George Allison, Arvin Lowell, Fred Perryman and Mrs. Loughman.

POTLUCK LUNCH TOMORROW

The Mary Blair class of the First Presbyterian church will have a noon potluck lunch tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Ethel Taylor, 316 Coral avenue, Balboa island.

Coffee will be served by the committee, and the members are requested to bring a covered dish, sandwiches and table service. This month's committee include Mrs. C. Hawk, Mrs. M. Christ, Mrs. R. Bond, Mrs. E. Radford, Mrs. J. Moore, and Mrs. H. Pollock.

POETS, POEMS DISCUSSED BY EBELLE SECTION

Stephen Vincent Benet's latest book, "Burning City," was reviewed by Mrs. John Tessmann for the modern poetry section of Ebelle club on Tuesday, when that group met in the afternoon at the home of Miss Beulah May on Maybury road.

This book, according to Mrs. Tessmann, is the author's best since "John Brown's Body." Divided into four sections, each with different subject matter, rhyme, and meter, the poem brings out the harshness of cities and the cruelty of war, combining this matter, however, with some lighter phases and phrases.

Three members of the section have recently had poems published, it was announced, the authors being Mrs. Harwood Sharp, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, and Miss May.

Section members are looking forward to the general Ebelle program of Feb. 8, when Audrey Vurdeman and Joseph Auslander, two Pulitzer prize winners, will be presented.

Twenty-eight members and two guests, Mrs. Mina Shafer and Mrs. La Pierre, shared the hospitality of Miss May and Miss Vanche Plumb, who were co-hostesses for the day, and served refreshments at the close. Dahlias in bronze and other autumn tones decorated the rooms of the home.

The next meeting will be Nov. 3 at the home of Miss M. J. Ritchey, on McCadden street, at which time Mrs. Alan Revell will present a review of Robert Frost's new book, "Further Range."

GREEKS CHOOSE LOCAL GIRLS

Several Santa Ana girls were among the comparative few elected to become members of social societies at the University of Southern California this year.

Miss Ione Hooven, 1325 North Garnsey street, was pledged to Alpha Delta Pi; Miss Mary Ellen Dudley, 532 South Parton street, became a pledge of Alpha Chi Omega; Miss Lorraine Turk, 2316 Benton way, was pledged to Alpha Delta Theta, and Miss Charlotte McKee, 1701 North Bush street, was affiliated with Delta Gamma.

Pledging was a formal ceremony following a week of teas, dinners and varied entertainment, with 190 women pledged to the Greek-letter groups out of a total of more than 4500 women attending the university.

COMUS CLUB TO DINE, DANCE

Comus club will have a closed dinner-dance Thursday evening, Oct. 15, at the Santa Ana Country club.

Dinner will be served promptly at 7:30, and reservations for members only are being accepted now by Mrs. F. B. Miller, club secretary.

The evening's committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mr. and Mrs. William Stroschein, and Dr. and Mrs. Newell Moore.

MRS. VAN DIEN CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. H. B. Van Dien assumed hostess responsibilities for her bridge club Tuesday, when she entertained the members and three guests at luncheon and contract in her home on Bonnie Brae.

Open House Planned Sunday

October is a month of golden weddings in Santa Ana, with at least four on the calendar for the coming week.

One of the loveliest of the anniversary celebrations will be open house at which the W. D. Barnards will preside next Sunday afternoon and evening, from 2 to 9 o'clock, in their home at 319 East Bishop, to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the ceremony which united them on Oct. 13, 1886.

Reminiscences of that day a half century ago recall a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodgins, in Springfield, Iowa, and include the pretty tan satin wedding dress worn by Miss Emma Hodgins, its pleats and ermine fashioning the gown into the lovely mode of the day.

Lived in Iowa After their wedding, the bridegroom, who was a railroad man in those days, made a home for his bride in Springfield for a short while and then moved his family to Belle Plain, Iowa, where they lived for 35 years.

About 17 years ago, they came west, settling in Costa Mesa, where Mr. Barnard had a general store for three years, and next came to Santa Ana, where they have resided ever since. Engaging at that time in real estate business, Mr. Barnard is still actively associated with the Santa Ana Realty corporation.

Both are active members of the First Methodist church and of Santa Ana chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

Four Children Four children and eight grandchildren make up the family circle, two of the families who live in Southern California planning to join in the celebration next Sunday.

These latter are Mrs. M. J. Hostetter, their daughter, of Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Phil Collins of Bakersfield, another daughter, and her family, which includes three daughters, Phyllis, Jean and Betty Ruth.

A son in Arizona, L. C. Barnard, and a daughter in Iowa, Mrs. W. R. Craig, were here in August, when a happy family reunion was held. Four of the couple's granddaughters are in the L. C. Barnard family, Dorothy, Audyne, June and Carol, and a grandson, Billy, in the Craig family.

D. A. V. WOMEN HEAR REPORT

Mrs. Dean Laub, commander of the local auxiliary to the Disabled American Veterans, made her annual report to the meeting of the organization last night.

Among her statistics which were of interest were the statements that during the year visits had been made to 373 veterans in hospitals, and to 164 veterans at home; 1300 magazines had been donated; and other donations in addition to food luxuries included six wool laprobes two quilts, five pillows and 60 decks of cards.

A total of $1005.50 was spent on charity by the group.

A delegation of members of the auxiliary and of the D. A. V. will visit the San Fernando hospital this Sunday, it was announced.

Mrs. Harry Pickard will be hostess to the auxiliary sewing circle at a potluck luncheon on Oct. 14 at her home, 530 South Van Ness street.

A card party at which auction bridge and pinocle will be played, is being arranged by Mrs. Elmer Maxson. The affair will occur Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. M. D. Murphy, 817 Hickory street.

W. C. T. U. NAMES DELEGATES

Local delegates to the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union to be held next week, beginning Oct. 13, at Bakersfield, were named at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana organization this week.

Mrs. Theron Means, Mrs. Artie Warren, Mrs. Adaline Hershinger and Miss Emily Cox have been selected so far, and others will be named later this week. Mrs. A. A. Jones led a devotional service which preceded a short talk on proposed amendments, given by Miss Sedalia Cubison, director of legislation.

She then introduced Mrs. Bernice Johnson, Los Angeles county director of legislations, who went into the forthcoming election thoroughly, discussing each phase of it.

Mrs. Amy Evans was welcomed home after an eastern visit of several months.

Next month's meeting on Nov. 10 will be in charge of Mrs. Artie Warner, and will be devoted to reports of the state convention.

CLUB DINES AT DIXIE CASTLE

Mrs. Edward Daley entertained her card club at dinner and dancing Tuesday night out at Dixie Castle, serving an Italian dinner at tables decorated with red checkered table cloths and dip candles.

After dinner and a short period of dancing, contract was enjoyed, with prizes going to Miss Catherine Overton and Mrs. Joseph May.

Enjoying the evening were Mesdames Frances C. Lacy, Rachel Smith, Joseph May, Robert Lufberry, Kay Pandle, the Misses Grace Anderson and Edna May Heim, and the hostess, and four guests, Miss Overton, Mrs. Christine Anderson, Mrs. Homer Neer, and Mrs. Robert Moore.

Pair Honored At Surprise Parties

Inviting two to dinner on their recent wedding anniversary night, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kubitz of West Seventeenth street, were pleasantly surprised when they found their party increased to 18.

The relatives who planned the surprise brought with them the ingredients for a delicious supper, which they spread in the Kubitz's attractive dining room on a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with autumn flowers.

Gifts, including a complete set of pottery in two lovely shades, were showered on the couple, who were marking the fifteenth anniversary of the wedding ceremony which united them at the home of the "bride's" sister, Mrs. Sam Vogt, in Santa Ana.

Participating in the happy surprise were Mr. Kubitz's mother, Mrs. Anne Kubitz, and the latter's daughter, Miss Helen Kubitz; Mrs. Kubitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sauerman; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Patton and daughter; Miss Esther Vogt, Ralph Gordon, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Sauerman and son and two daughters, of Huntington Park; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kubitz, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder, Rev. and Mrs. G. G. Schmidt, and the host and hostess, who were also the honored guests.

A few nights later, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Nail invited a small coterie of close friends for a dinner party in their home, South Farnham street, also honoring Mr. and Mrs. Kubitz.

Places at their pretty table were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brockman of Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Patton, and the guests of honor and hosts.

FORMER SANTA ANA GIRL WED IN NORTH

Mrs. Stella Hill of 1346 South Maple street received an announcement this week of the marriage on Oct. 2 in Hanford of her niece, Miss Emerson Bishop of that city, a former Santa Ana girl, and Elmer Shultz, of Grand View, Wash.

The couple are honeymooning in Washington now, planning to return to Hanford in about five weeks to make their home.

Mrs. Shultz, the bride, was born in Santa Ana, receiving part of her early schooling here. She is the daughter of the late Mrs. E. J. Fenley, and her stepfather, E. J. Fenley, resides in Hanford.

PYTHIANS HAVE DINNER PARTY

Members of the Tustin Knights of Pythias lodge were served a delicious dinner last night when 150 of them gathered at the K. of P. hall in Tustin.

Mrs. Mary Thompson had prepared the dinner, and it was served by members of the lodge drill team. The able was attractively decorated with fall flowers.

Later in the evening, Mrs. Thompson was tendered a surprise shower of dainty handkerchiefs from the Pythian Sisters. She will leave shortly for a trip to Oregon.

DORCAS TOMORROW

Dorcas society of the First Methodist church will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the church, and after a business session will go for a tour of the Goodwill Industries buildings. Tea is to be served there at the end of the afternoon.

Mary Stoddard Should Women Neglect Their Babies to Enjoy Innocent Pleasures?

By MARY STODDARD

"Card parties versus babies"—that's a problem one of our women readers places before us.

She relates how some women she knows play cards while their children run the streets. It seems to me that any fairly intelligent person must know that the mother who permits such a thing is neglecting the most important job which is given to woman on this earth.

Here is the letter: Dear Mary Stoddard: Nearly every problem in the world has been brought to you for discussion it seems, but here is one still a bit different: How about card parties versus babies? What is your opinion?

There are several of us with children ranging in age from about 1 year to 5½, who have been arguing this.

Most of us attend card clubs from one to three times a week, and from 12:30 till around 5:30 generally. They nearly all leave their tots to run the streets. One even says someone is always kind enough to care for them if they get hurt. When she gets home she finds them all up after calling for some time, then after a meal of some sort they are put to bed, tired, cross and seldom clean, to cry themselves to sleep.

This is one instance, and our side all say she and the others will some day be sorry she didn't take care of her babies until they become of school age at least and must get out into their little world to acquire more knowledge. And how they should hug them and understand their baby chatter and to feel their baby arms about their neck every time they have a chance, as they grow up far too soon after all.

For instance, we have our two days of the week-end for family recreation. Friday or Saturday evening some of us who care to dance hire a woman to stay in the homes with the children and then start out the next morning to some beach or to the grand-park who are always waiting eagerly to see the children. My tots are 2 years and 4½.

We, too, enjoy a game of cards during the week sometimes and one of the number always divides her time with the children and we do this occasionally in the evening and tucked into bed, so you see we do not necessarily make slaves of ourselves for the children. We feel that by not being tied to a card table we are free each day to use it as we choose. Are we wasting our lives for the babies?

NEIGHBORS.

A Citrus Belt picnic will be held at Irvine park on Oct. 11, which approximately 1000 U. S. W. V. members and their wives are expected to attend. The local Calumpit camp will provide coffee, sugar, cream, and cold drinks.

An all-day sewing and social day will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Graham at Garden Grove on Oct. 15. A potluck lunch will be served at noon, and members are to bring their own table service.

Oct. 13 is social night for the auxiliary and cards will be played.

Tuesday's meeting was concluded with a reading of the victory of Dewey, and a report on the national convention held at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in August, by past president, Hattie Williams.

Members of the Tustin Knights of Pythias lodge were served a delicious dinner last night when 150 of them gathered at the K. of P. hall in Tustin.

Mrs. Mary Thompson had prepared the dinner, and it was served by members of the lodge drill team. The able was attractively decorated with fall flowers.

Dorcas society of the First Methodist church will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the church, and after a business session will go for a tour of the Goodwill Industries buildings. Tea is to be served there at the end of the afternoon.

Invited to meet him were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Johannessen and Carl and Alice Marie, of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Briney and daughter, Elaine, of San Pedro.

On Tuesday, Miss Olive Briney took the guest and Mrs. Johannessen to Riverside Mission Inn.

Calumpit auxiliary of the U. S. W. V. served a cheese luncheon to more than 60 persons Tuesday in the K. of C. hall. Bridge and buncos occupied the remainder of the afternoon, with buncos high score prizes going to Elizabeth Erickson and Edna Hummah, and bridge high score prizes going to Mary Croal and Charles Winters.

The luncheon committee included Effie Hawley, Jean Tanti, May Glaze and Estella Dresser.

In the absence of three regular members, Mrs. R. G. Tutill, Mrs. A. J. Cruikshank, and Mrs. E. T. Morrow, but two tables were present. They included Mesdames Parke Roper, Phillip Hatzfeld, James Harding, George Briggs, A. G. Flagg, C. V. Davis, Roy Hall and I. F. Landis.

Prizes at the close of the day's play went to Mrs. Hatzfeld, high, and Mrs. Flagg, second.

Mrs. Oliver Halsell, a neighbor of Mrs. Farnsworth, sent in many of the lovely flowers and helped arrange them in the rooms.

Members present included the Misses Dorothy Preble, Jeannette Lewis, Chapman, Lowell, Joan Baker, Barbara Horton, Margaret Guard, Martha Wallingford, Virginia Curry, Gladys Marguerat, Ruth Baker, Louise Rurup, Corinne Lecrivain and Bernice Rathbun; Mrs. Charles Bain, Mrs. Ray Cartwright, Mrs. Orville Schuchardt, Mrs. Joe Irwin, the hostess, Miss Katherine Harbart, and a pledge, Miss Margaret Thomas.

Meeting for the first time since late spring, members of a local bridge club yesterday entertained at a delightful luncheon party given by Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth at her home, 2219 North Broadway.

The guests were seated at a prettily arranged table centered with antique in a white bowl, set off by pink tapers in white candlesticks. A beautiful basket of dahlias, the gift of Mrs. James Harding, and other attractive bouquets of Japanese anemones, decorated the living rooms where cards were later enjoyed.

Parent-Teacher Association Activities

Council in First Open Session

Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers, at its meeting this week in the board room of the board of education building, went on record as commending the school board for its action taken in favor of health examinations for all teachers.

This was the first open meeting of the council this fall, the September session being one of the regular board meetings.

Report of progress toward the goal of 1600 members, set for the annual membership drive which opened Sunday, was given by Mrs. F. H. Mitchell, and Mrs. James Givens stated that all 15 units had their programs approved and sent to the district several weeks before the closing date.

Frank Corey, magazine chairman, mentioned the fact that Mrs. W. A. Price, editor of the California Parent-Teacher, is a member of Santa Ana council and of the High School P.T.A. this year; and Frank Henderson, legislation chairman, reminded the members of the election Nov. 3 and the bond issue voting Oct. 22.

Mrs. Mills Presides
Mrs. John J. Mills, council president, reminded the members that all dues from the membership campaign must be in the hands of Mrs. Dale Elliott by Oct. 17, and gave a report of the parent education classes.

Plans were started for the all-day district meeting which will be held here Jan. 21, 1937, and it was announced that the next council meeting would be postponed from Nov. 3 to Nov. 5, on account of the election.

Mrs. Marcus Lassiter, council art chairman, explained the poster she had made for recording the increases of each association in the membership drive.

Council Aims Read
In the opening period, Mrs. Givens read a resume of the meaning of a P.T.A. in council, which, she pointed out, is an organization of local Congresses of Parents and Teachers units within the designated boundaries of the city. Its most important functions, she stated, are to help local units, to study its own needs and problems, and to stimulate interest in the P.T.A. movement.

Its policy, according to her brief talk, is to uphold and exemplify the National Congress ideals and policies, to serve as a channel for dissemination of information concerning state and national projects, and to cooperate with other welfare or educational agencies in such work as is strictly within P.T.A. fields. Meetings are held to offer opportunity to confer on regional council activities and for personal contact with leaders interested in the same lines of endeavor.

The chief purposes, thus, she pointed out, are to provide instruction, information, and inspiration for P.T.A. leaders.

COUNCIL LEADER FINDS BUSY FALL CALENDAR
This has been a busy month for Mrs. John J. Mills, president of Santa Ana Parent-Teacher council, what with the Community Chest drive, the P.T.A. membership campaign, and the program outlines, in addition to the regular council and unit activities marking the opening weeks.

Mrs. Mills met with Mrs. James Givens, program chairman, to help in checking the programs for approval early in September; attended Willard association's opening meeting on Sept. 22, attended Mrs. F. H. Mitchell's membership conference the 23rd; was a guest at both Lathrop and Willard meetings on the 25th; represented the council at the Community Chest luncheon the 28th; attended McKinley P.T.A.'s meeting on the 29th, and visited Hoover unit on Oct. 2—and in addition is a volunteer worker on the Community Chest drive.

October, too, will be busy for Mrs. Mills, starting with the membership campaign this week and continuing with opening meetings of other units the latter part of the month.

JUNIOR COLLEGE
Executive board members of the Junior College Parent-Teacher Association will entertain parents of college students at tea next Tuesday afternoon, in accordance with an annual custom of that organization.

A delightful reception has been planned for the hours from 2:30 to 4 o'clock, with a short musical program as a feature of the afternoon.

Both mothers and fathers of the students are invited to attend, as this is the first social function of the association this year. Receiving during the afternoon will be Mrs. Neal Beisel, president of the unit; D. K. Hammond, vice-president; Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, secretary; and Mrs. W. C. Dunlap, treasurer.

Plans for the affair were completed yesterday at a board meeting held at the school, at which it was decided to sponsor none of the Monday night forums during October, as the subjects do not relate to Parent-Teacher activities, but to emphasize social events and membership during that time.

All board meetings of the group, as well as the other meetings, are open to the general P.T.A. membership.

October Program Outlined

Responding to continued requests for printing of program suggestions for the month, the California Parent-Teacher magazine this month carries the following ideas for October:

Main Topic: Study of Taxation.
Program presented by principal or teacher.

I. Principles Governing Financing of Public Schools.

a. What are the basic principles of taxation? (Tax leaflet, page 2, California Parent-Teacher Magazine, March, 1936, and July-August issue, 1936.)

b. Why should we, as individuals, be interested in the support of the schools? (Charter for Public Education, pages 6 and 7 in school education leaflet.)

c. How do costs of education compare with other governmental costs? (Tax leaflet, page 9.)

Program presented by School Education Chairman.

II. California System of School Financing.

a. What proportion of school funds come from federal, state, county, and district sources? (Pamphlet Facts Concerning California Public Schools and tax leaflet, page 11.)

b. How is the local district tax determined, and raised?

c. What are the chief contributing factors to increase the costs of public schools today?

d. What is the value of having a definite allotment for public education, fixed by the state constitution?

e. If tuition charges in private schools in your community amounted to $2000 a year, what would it cost to educate the present public school enrollment at private expense?

Program presented by Legislative Chairman.

III. Legislative Measures on November Ballot Affecting Welfare of Women and Children. (Procure leaflets and information from State Legislative Chairman at once.)

Suggestions for High School Program:

Present above topics in a symposium. Choose three well-informed people to present the material, such as county superintendent of schools, a school trustee, an informed layman, and an experienced attorney. To be effective, symposium must be followed by questions and discussion.

Officers of the high school unit this year are: Mrs. Elsner, the president; Mrs. Hugh K. Hougham, first vice-president; Mrs. E. H. Layton, second vice-president; Miss Helen Kirkland, secretary; M. V. Newcomer, treasurer; and Robert S. Farrar, parliamentarian.

Chairmen introduced by the president were: Lynn H. Crawford, programs; Harry Bickel, music; Miss Hazel Nelle Bemis, art; Mrs. Fred Triplett, membership; Mrs. Frank Corey, magazine; Mrs. Hougham, motion pictures; Rev. Mr. Harry Evan Owens, character education; Mrs. Guy Belcher, publicity; and Mrs. Thomas Lacy, hospitality.

Printed programs for the year were distributed to the members before they departed, announcing "The Challenge to Youth" as the theme for the year and "Youth's Attitude Toward War" as the subject for next month's symposium.

MOTHER SINGERS NOW MEETING AT CHURCH
All Parent-Teacher association members in the city who are interested in joining the Mother Singers chorus are asked to do so at the next meeting, next Wednesday at 2 p. m. in Spurgeon Memorial church, corner Church street and Broadway.

The meeting place has been changed to the church, using the Broadway entrance, and after next Wednesday no new members will be accepted, according to Mrs. Lorene Graves, the leader.

Work on the winter program, which includes already engagements scheduled through next February, has been started and definite plans will be made when enrollment is closed.

SPURGEON
Spurgeon P.T.A.'s executive board is to meet at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the school.

The grade mothers will hold a meeting the same day, at 9 a. m., to make further plans for the Halloween carnival to be held the end of the month. Grade mothers this year are Mrs. L. D. Spencer, chairman, and the Mesdames R. H. Burkhead, William Humphrey, M. Newcomer, F. Edmunds, Von Hecht, A. Johnson, R. Edwards, Jasper Farney, N. W. Travis, Tom Smith, J. Cash, R. D. Flaherty, W. Born, R. C. Jager, E. Klever, Guy Matties, James Givens, E. C. Lane, C. L. Williamson, L. Kientz, George Cocking.

Learn Easy Ways to Train Your Dog

"Sit!"

Some people have a special knack for training dogs? None! You, too, can train your dog with the help of easy training rules.

To teach your dog to sit and stay down until called, hold the leash gently with your right hand and, with your left, press lightly on the dog's hind quarters. Say gently, but firmly "Sit!" When he tries to rise, press him down again. When he has sat down, stayed down, then come at your call, reward him with a treat. Limit each lesson to 10 or 15 minutes.

Let no one else have a hand in your dog's training. And don't try to teach more than housebreaking during his first ten months.

Our 32-page booklet gives step-by-step training lessons. Pointers on feeding, grooming, treatment of distemper and other ailments, too. Send 10c for your copy of How to Choose and Care for Your Dog to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

DISTRICT MAKES MAGAZINE BOW
This month's California Parent-Teacher magazine carries the following well-written resume of Fourth District's aims and purposes, submitted in district reports by Mrs. N. H. LeRoy, Brea, publicity chairman of this district:

"A clearer understanding of the parent-teacher program based on the Resolutions adopted at the 1936 Convention, emphasizing Understanding, Security and Peace, is the theme for work in Fourth District for this year. We are also translating the Resolutions into action by establishing the following goals: A Parent-Teacher Association in every school; a life membership from every association; 20 per cent gain in membership and magazines; a study group or parent education class in every association; one hundred per cent in summer round-up; approved programs as outlined by the California Congress and growth in every department.

expected to attend, according to Mrs. Richard Luers, the president.

STATE HEAD RETURNS FROM CONVENTION
Mrs. B. C. Clark, president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, is back at her desk after her trip east to attend the national board meeting held in Chicago, during which the time of the national convention was set for the first week in May, 1937, and the place, Richmond, Va.

After the board meeting Mrs. Clark attended the sixth annual forum of the New York Herald Tribune on "Current Problems," held at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York city.

LOWELL
Lowell Parent-Teacher Association's board will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the teachers' room of the school, all board members and grade mothers as well being invited to attend, according to Mrs. Richard Luers, the president.

New Building Inspected by P.-T. A.

Opening the year in an informal manner, with the teachers of the school as their honored guests, Santa Ana High School Parent-Teacher association entertained close to 150 parents and teachers at the school Tuesday night, with tours of the new building as one of the delightful features of the evening.

Mrs. E. H. Elsner, president, presided over the meeting and received the guests, introducing her officers and chairmen to the gathering.

Herbert Bickel, head of the music department, led in community singing, accompanied by John Swarthout, another of the teachers, and W. M. Clayton read Nesbitt's "Tribute to the Flag," in honor of Flag Week.

Refreshments at Close
Following this short get-acquainted period, the visitors were taken through the lovely new school building, and then returned to the reception room where the board members served light refreshments.

Officers of the high school unit this year are Mrs. Elsner, the president; Mrs. Hugh K. Hougham, first vice-president; Mrs. E. H. Layton, second vice-president; Miss Helen Kirkland, secretary; M. V. Newcomer, treasurer; and Robert S. Farrar, parliamentarian.

Chairmen introduced by the president were: Lynn H. Crawford, programs; Harry Bickel, music; Miss Hazel Nelle Bemis, art; Mrs. Fred Triplett, membership; Mrs. Frank Corey, magazine; Mrs. Hougham, motion pictures; Rev. Mr. Harry Evan Owens, character education; Mrs. Guy Belcher, publicity; and Mrs. Thomas Lacy, hospitality.

Printed programs for the year were distributed to the members before they departed, announcing "The Challenge to Youth" as the theme for the year and "Youth's Attitude Toward War" as the subject for next month's symposium.

MOTHER SINGERS NOW MEETING AT CHURCH
All Parent-Teacher association members in the city who are interested in joining the Mother Singers chorus are asked to do so at the next meeting, next Wednesday at 2 p. m. in Spurgeon Memorial church, corner Church street and Broadway.

The meeting place has been changed to the church, using the Broadway entrance, and after next Wednesday no new members will be accepted, according to Mrs. Lorene Graves, the leader.

Work on the winter program, which includes already engagements scheduled through next February, has been started and definite plans will be made when enrollment is closed.

SPURGEON
Spurgeon P.T.A.'s executive board is to meet at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the school.

The grade mothers will hold a meeting the same day, at 9 a. m., to make further plans for the Halloween carnival to be held the end of the month. Grade mothers this year are Mrs. L. D. Spencer, chairman, and the Mesdames R. H. Burkhead, William Humphrey, M. Newcomer, F. Edmunds, Von Hecht, A. Johnson, R. Edwards, Jasper Farney, N. W. Travis, Tom Smith, J. Cash, R. D. Flaherty, W. Born, R. C. Jager, E. Klever, Guy Matties, James Givens, E. C. Lane, C. L. Williamson, L. Kientz, George Cocking.

Learn Easy Ways to Train Your Dog

"Sit!"

Some people have a special knack for training dogs? None! You, too, can train your dog with the help of easy training rules.

To teach your dog to sit and stay down until called, hold the leash gently with your right hand and, with your left, press lightly on the dog's hind quarters. Say gently, but firmly "Sit!" When he tries to rise, press him down again. When he has sat down, stayed down, then come at your call, reward him with a treat. Limit each lesson to 10 or 15 minutes.

Let no one else have a hand in your dog's training. And don't try to teach more than housebreaking during his first ten months.

Our 32-page booklet gives step-by-step training lessons. Pointers on feeding, grooming, treatment of distemper and other ailments, too. Send 10c for your copy of How to Choose and Care for Your Dog to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

DISTRICT MAKES MAGAZINE BOW
This month's California Parent-Teacher magazine carries the following well-written resume of Fourth District's aims and purposes, submitted in district reports by Mrs. N. H. LeRoy, Brea, publicity chairman of this district:

"A clearer understanding of the parent-teacher program based on the Resolutions adopted at the 1936 Convention, emphasizing Understanding, Security and Peace, is the theme for work in Fourth District for this year. We are also translating the Resolutions into action by establishing the following goals: A Parent-Teacher Association in every school; a life membership from every association; 20 per cent gain in membership and magazines; a study group or parent education class in every association; one hundred per cent in summer round-up; approved programs as outlined by the California Congress and growth in every department.

Give Yourself a Pedicure

By JACQUELINE HUNT

All of us give considerable time and thought to the care of hands, face and hair, but unless we happen to be going to the beach or getting ready for a party, we pay little attention to the appearance of our feet.

A little time devoted to the care of the feet and to a pedicure once a week will pay big dividends in foot comfort.

Begin with a warm soapy bath and rinse. While the feet are still warm and slightly moist, apply a cuticle remover or cuticle softener and leave it on a minute. Use an orange stick to push back the loosened cuticle if you use the remover. The softener, which is a kind of creamy soap, is rubbed off with tepid water and a hand brush. In either case, rinse the hands in warm water and dry with a soft towel, wiping away the dead cuticle and shaping that which remains the nails.

Dip your orange stick in cuticle remover, wrap the end in a tiny piece of cotton and again in cuticle remover, and use to cleanse under the nail tips. Never use a file or sharp pointed instrument in this delicate area.

Now if you have time for a de luxe treatment, pour a little cuticle oil into a saucer, warm slightly by setting in hot water, and into it dip thin pieces of cotton. Wrap each toe in the oil-soaked cotton as you finish shaping and cleansing the nail tip. Leave on for 10 minutes or more, then wash the toes again in warm soapy water and dry thoroughly.

meat after the bones are removed. Sprinkle well with salt and pepper. Melt ½ cup butter or shortening in a skillet, add 1 tablespoon minced onion and ½ cup diced celery and saute until tender. Add 8 cups soft bread crumbs and cook a minute longer, mixing carefully. Add ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon sage, ¼ teaspoon thyme and 1 egg that has been beaten slightly. Spread the stuffing on one side of each piece of lamb, and fold over the stuffing. Tie each roll securely and place in a covered baking pan. Bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes, add ½ cup boiling water, cover and bake 2 hours, basting occasionally. Spread with a mixture of ½ cup mint jelly and ¼ cup vinegar. Bake 30 minutes longer, basting several times. Remove the meat to a hot platter, drain off the excessive fat and make a gravy from the drippings remaining in the pan.

Marmalade Custard
Place 1 tablespoon orange marmalade in the bottom of each of 8 custard cups. Combine 4 eggs, slightly beaten, with 8 teaspoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, a dash of ginger and 3 cups scalded milk. Mix well, strain and pour into the custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven about 40 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in the center of the custard comes out clean. Chill thoroughly and unmold to serve.

Townsend Dons Sunflower

IN A SURPRISE move which may upset the Democratic appellation in California, Dr. Townsend recommends that his followers cast their ballots for Governor Landon. Says the good doctor:

"I advise that we choose the lesser of the two evils."

This move was made, of course, because of the inability of Representative Lemke to get on the California ticket.

This congressional district tasted the strength of the OARP clans in the primary election when Harry Shepard won an overwhelming victory for the Democratic nomination. Townsend forces claim 18,000 votes in Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, the three district subdivisions. For the state, as a whole, they claim 750,000 members, although that does not mean all these pension backers will vote as the Long Beach physician directs.

California, up until this Townsend coup, had been considered safely Democratic upon the basis of the registration figures. A change of allegiance on the part of several hundred thousand OARP voters, however, puts the state very decidedly into the doubtful class—with more than a fair chance that it will support the man from the Sunflower belt on Nov. 3.

Self-made, usually, got in on a good thing when it was coming, not when it was going.

He Had Grit and Pluck

FROM time to time we hear pessimists mourn that the grand old American spirit of independence and self-reliance is dead among the unemployed—the untimely victim of easy relief money and loose political charity. And these pessimists, with their tales of chiselers and dead-beats on the relief rolls, often make out a mighty convincing case.

There are still a lot of unemployed people, however, who possess the grit and pride of the pioneer stock, and who won't take relief funds if they can earn a living through their own brains and brawn.

Such a man was discovered yesterday by an enterprising Journal reporter. But the discovery, unfortunately, came too late to pay him a living tribute. It came at a coroner's inquest into the accidental death of Ben Helmsing at Costa Mesa.

There it was learned that Mr. Helmsing had refused to cash a $12 county relief check because, in the meantime, he had obtained a job at $3 a week.

We doff our hat to Mr. Helmsing's sturdy and free spirit at a time when so many people are taking the course of least resistance. His example should stir similar thoughts of good old American grit and pluck in the breasts of many others.

Successor to Mussolini

WHAT happens in a dictatorship when the head man dies? Mussolini is trying to supply the answer to this question by training young Count Ciano, his son-in-law, to wield the big stick as his successor.

Il Duce knows he can't live forever and wants to keep the power in his family.

The Italian people—and Mussolini's powerful suppressed enemies—may think differently, however.

Benito grasped power when the time was ripe. He has been man enough to stay in the saddle. But Count Ciano, unless he is a most unusual young person, probably has neither the brains nor the ability of his father-in-law.

The death of Mussolini will unleash such terrific forces in Italy that taming them will be like fighting a pack of lions bare-handed.

He laughs best who laughs at his own funny stories.

A Straight Course

HEADLINES from one paper: "Shanghai in Fear of Clash." "Germany Speeds Re-arming." "Young Cubans Rebel." "Britain Warns Europe on Spanish Crisis."

You read such headlines every day. These times are filled with war and rumors of war.

Never, since the time of the World war, have we had more need for level-headed statecraft to keep us out of conflict. From all angles, war makers eye us as a potential ally to their schemes.

Give all credit to our state department. So far, it has steered a straight course along the narrow, uncharted channel of neutrality.

The disastrous reefs of war are on each side. Back our government in holding the true course, with peace as our goal.

Faster and Safer

THANKS to a new traffic control plan approved by city council, motorists will find driving through the city of Santa Ana a pleasure instead of a pain.

Three through motorways running north and south and three opening east and west have been cleared of all possible stop signs, signals and other obstructions. As a result, Mr. A. Utomobilist will be able to breeze from one end of the city to the other with a minimum of delay.

The city fathers are doing a good job in making the road clearer and safer for motorists.

Now if they will only give some much-needed protection to downtown pedestrians by installing caution signs at foot crossings, they will take care of another urgent need.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

When a big liner has docked during the day I like to go down to the piers around dusk to watch the crew fellows, all prinked up, come ashore for an evening in town. They are a nifty, seemingly content to walk the streets two and four abreast just looking.

Most of them, too, seem undressed, with milk complexion, oddly cut clothes and bad teeth. They are full of salutes and have a delightful way of expressing themselves. They never talk to strangers unless approached, and they seem pleased to converse.

The majority are victims of the cheap water front barbers—hair-cut and shave 20 cents—and are turned out with ramifications of the bowl style of cutting. As a result they suggest picked chickens and are compelled to bear the atrocity for weeks.

Then, too, there are the pert manicured girls and the smartly dressed managers of the specialty shops aboard ship. All are accomplished linguists. Most of them, I hear, are happily married. And the Romeos who expect them easy pickups find something else again.

Speaking of haircuts, there was a Dutch queensware merchant in our town who would journey all the way to Pittsburgh to be properly tonsored. He was reminded of Col. Henry Watterson, down at Louisville, who would drop his tools on occasion and hie to Paris for some of his favorite sauced-drenched dishes and carafe of his favorite rose-colored wine. A toddy drinker at home, he would partake of wine only in France.

And Russ Cole tells me of a fellow in the internal revenue department at Washington, an esthete with the spunk to carry out his notions, who sends his shirts to St. Louis to be laundered. He believes they get a "better" on them in the Missouri metropolis he cannot acquire anywhere else. Swank Englishmen years ago used to send their laundry across the channel to Paris. Out of this laundry business grew the famous haberdashery salon of Charvet in the Place Vendome. The first Charvet was a washer-man.

Memory: That black cloud that rolled up out of the southwest upon an afternoon circus performance, and with the rain, the enormous billowing into mountainous waves and side loops hopping, the announcer stood on a blue trick animal tub and shouted: "Ladeez and gentlemen: A violent storm is approaching. All those who remain under this canvas are so at their own risk." Then the first blow of the twister. Trees weaving like feathers. Women and children, scurrying helter skelter, screaming. The trumpet-like roar of the elephant and the quick snarl of the lion. Then big raindrops hitting the tent like bullets. I recall the clown, who took me by the hand and comforted: "Now, Bub, don't cry. You'll be all right!" And what little boy all right with his hand in that of a circus clown?

Many, too, in our remembrance, when I recall the street corner medicine shown and the Stetson-hatted Diamond Jack with the rattlesnake belt who did the spilling. He was always promising us that the cork-faced Alonzo would play the banjo again as soon as he disposed of these few remaining samples of Kickapoo Indian. With two bars of soap thrown in. Diamond Jack was master of crowd psychology. When he saw a drift away he hustled on entertainment and held suckers to the end. And somehow we can't see where the radio has departed from this style of samsanship.

They tell it on Lucius Beebe. One recent midnight he somehow appeared in the Grand Central subway station in tails, white tie and silk topper. Stepping into a shuttle train, he found the whole car complaining of not getting started. Beebe walked to the middle of the car, held a white kid glove hand aloft, and belted: "Trainmen, do you realize we must get to Times Square with the serum? Be off—moments are precious!"

When nearing the end of a column—and how like removing a pair of tight new shoes it is—I like to recall the old hand-set printer's idiom at quitting time: "bury your day on the hook!"

Bright Moments

The Earl of Shaftsbury, when chancellor of England during the reign of Charles II, is credited with one of the wittiest retorts a subject ever made to a sovereign. One day the king said angrily: "Shaftsbury, you are the most profligate wretch in my dominions. Shaftsbury coolly eyed the king, and replied: "Among your subjects, sire, I believe I am." The king redoubled and left the council chamber.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—This state always has been noted for political strife as bitter and conflicting as its rigorous climatic extremes, and it is continuing that tradition today.

In the past it has produced such poles-apart personalities as Frank B. (Nervous Nellie) Kellogg; the pontifical dentist, Henrik Shipstead, who defeated him for the senate; Justice Pierce Butler, greatest corporation lawyer of the Northwest now bitterly anti-New Deal; and the late Gov. Floyd Olson, dynamic Farmer-Labor boss.

And now a tense local and national political struggle is being fought out against a background of bloody capital-labor strife. The roots of the two wars are closely intertwined.

Floyd Olsons' death, just as the presidential campaign was getting under way, wrought major changes on the national front. Prior to his death the Republicans had kissed Minnesota good-bye and put it in the Roosevelt lists.

But even as the hearse of their powerful pro-Roosevelt Farmer-Labor ruler trundled down the street, they galvanized into action.

MANNA FROM HEAVEN

Olson left no lieutenant big enough to fill his shoes. Also, his successors were rent by an undercover split over whether to support Roosevelt or the alleged candidate of the Farmer-Labor party, Bill Lemke.

The Democrats, too, were sapped by internal strife. At the Philadelphia convention the conservative wing ousted Olson's close friend, Joseph Wolf, as national committeeman. But their victory turned to defeat when Jim Farley put J. F. D. Meighen, a Wolf man, in charge of the Roosevelt campaign in Minnesota. They were in a belligerent mood.

To the Republicans this was manna from heaven. They saw a chance to kill two birds with one stone: oust the leftist, pro-labor state government they hated, and simultaneously help strike down an equally hated national regime.

The Roosevelt supporters finally woke up to the serious danger, not only to the Minnesota election but to the national campaign, of this splintering of the liberal vote in a vital state. In a surprise counter-maneuver, put over at the last minute allowed by the election laws, the Democrats withdrew their leading candidates and announced a coalition in support of the Farmer-Laborites.

At one stroke this solidified the Farmer-Labor front and left the anti-Wolf Democratic faction out on a limb, with no choice other than to go along with the majority or bolt Roosevelt outright. The latter is unlikely, and in any event would scarcely affect Roosevelt's chances.

THREE BROTHERS

Outside the state, the public thinks of Minnesota's labor wars as being fought between employers and unionites. But here it is not so simple as that.

The story of the hard-bitten Minneapolis labor faction, whose truculent operations so often have smeared the front pages, is the story of three brothers—Vincent, Miles and Grant Dunne.

Born in a small Minnesota town, they became teamsters in St. Paul and soon were active in union affairs as militant rank-and-fileers. From St. Paul they transferred to larger Minneapolis, a hard-boiled open shop city.

They started a teamsters' organization—Local 574 of the A. F. of L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Local 574 was destined to make labor history.

TEST FIGHT

In 1934 the Dunnes tested out the mettle of local 574 and that of the employers by pulling a coal-yard strike. The maneuver was a complete success, the teamsters winning all their demands.

Six months later they staged the now famous general truck drivers strike.

The fight was protracted and bloody, but in the end the employers were forced to grant union recognition and make other concessions.

With this successful battle under their belts the militant Dunnes became the uncrowned labor bosses of Minneapolis and local 574 the spearhead of organized labor in the city.

INTERNAL FEUD

The left-wing mindedness and militancy of the Dunnes did not, however, sit well with the old-line labor leaders of Minneapolis.

They took their peevishness to A. F. of L. leaders in Washington. Dan Tobin, president of the Teamsters Brotherhood, sided with them and strongly opposed the general truck strike. After it was settled he cracked down on the truculent local, withdrawing its charter on the ground that it was not paying its international dues.

Local 574, however, continued to expand and go its defiant way. Finally, early in the spring of 1936, Tobin sent a crew of organizers into Minneapolis and began a drive to build up a rival local. A gory feud ensued, with heads cracked and blood spilt on both sides.

After some months of this internecine battling, a compromise was reached. Local 574 and its rival were merged in a new unit, local 544. L. A. Murphy, a Tobin man, was made president and an executive board of six members, three from each side, was set up to rule the local.

Vince Dunne dropped his union card, and on the surface he and his brothers appeared to have been pushed out of the picture. But it was not long before they were back in.

Jack Smith, a board member who had migrated from Chicago to Minneapolis after being ousted by Tobin from his $15,000-a-year job as head of a Chicago teamsters' local, flopped to the Dunnes, giving them control of local 544. And today the Dunnes again are the power behind the throne in Minneapolis labor.

CITIZENS ALLIANCE

On the employer side, the Citizens Alliance represents an element just as hard-boiled in its own way, just as truculent as the militant laborites.

The Citizens Alliance has used terrorist methods as freely as local 574, has cracked down on moderate business men, just as ruthlessly as have the Dunnes on conservative union men.

Directing genius of the alliance is L. A. MacAloon, a one-time newspaper photographer. Fiercely hated by labor, he is also the terror of business men who favor a conciliatory attitude toward the union. Thus, caught in the cross-fire of these two extremes, the average Minneapolis employer and worker is being pounded and mauled on both sides.

WATER SHUT OFF

To the Editor: An employee of the Works Progress Administration has committed the unholy sin of being in default to the city water department to the sum of $3.80. So what? So the water department has shut off service of water on a family of five, including three young children.

Since the debtor won't receive any compensation from his job until the 14th of the month, this probably means that this family will go without water until that date. Or does it? Is it possible that such a cheap, miserable trick can be played in this day and age for such a paltry sum?

Three children won't be able to go to school because they will be dirty. The mother, who has been ill, can't have water.

The debtor has been a resident of Santa Ana for 10 years and usually manages to keep his utility bills paid. The water bill in question is one that is in litigation because of a leak on the premises. Last week the debtor gave the water department a check for almost five dollars. The water department accepted this check and then shut off service.

What about sanitary conditions? What about the problem of preparing meals? What about the three children who want to go to school? What about the mother who needs water because of her physical condition?

Surely this condition will not be allowed to continue. What are we going to do about it?

T. N. B., Santa Ana.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Man Is Made to Mourn

ANOTHER dictator joins the superman chorus in Europe. General Metaxas of Greece climbs to supreme power and takes Hitler and Turkey's Kemal as his pattern. He rattles his saber in characteristic manner, and proclaims his first aim to establish a military machine "comparable to the best in Europe." Thus do little despots try to be big despots and big despots stretch themselves into bigger despots. And, whether he is big or little, the people squirm under his iron heel, while liberty flees from the lives of men.

Ancient Greece was a tower of strength in man's desperate struggle for liberty. Only in that land of free men did Persia's mighty military machine come to sudden stop. The world has never forgotten the glory of Marathon, of Thermopylae, of Salamis. Nor the everlasting lesson that free men, fighting in defense of home, can never be conquered by the hired minions of foreign despots. Militarists blinded by their own arrogance and lust for power forget that Napoleon was not defeated by the armies of kings but he was utterly overthrown by the uprising of peoples—of Russians, of Germans, of Spaniards.

There is something depressing in the rise and fall of human political freedom. One generation will stake everything, "its life, its fortune and its sacred honor," on the altar of sacrifice. Nothing dear to the hearts of men is withheld that will insure the blessings of liberty to themselves and their posterity. And then posterity, surfeited with the very wealth of freedom, fling away their heritage for the gaudy baubles of place and power. And the old, old cycle must again be made if the sons of man are to breathe free air again.

Ancient Greeks, Romans and Spaniards resisted with fierce determination any encroachments on their liberties. But where external foes could not break their defenses internal enemies—luxury, vice, greed and lust—gnawed away their vitals. Militarism—stupid, gluttonous, soulless—sapped the strength of freedom. Greek phalanx and Roman legion ravaged the land, despoiling the arts of peace. Greek trimemes and Roman galleys ploughed the troubled waters of the Mediterranean, pirating on peaceful trade, for centuries.

Now the Mediterranean is again ringing with despotism. From Syria to Gibraltar the lamp of freedom flickers to extinction. Turkey, Greece, Italy, with their Asiatic and African extensions are in the grip of steel. And when Spaniard gets through butchering Spaniard, another man on horseback will emerge from the welter of blood in Spain.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Leland Auer, maestro of the Santa Ana Municipal band, is anxious that the citizens of Santa Ana hear his organization in concert at Birch park. He says he has a fine band. Now the way for you to find out is to go and hear it. Admission to Birch park is free, and you can leave any time you want to. I've always been fond of band music, especially the kind Herbert Clark's Long Beach band plays. I don't care for noise. Give me the swing time and harmony, with a few rags in the right place, interludes which are not strange, and all the rest of the musical synchronization. It is always essential to come in at the right time and place, but a lot of people go to parties who haven't any appreciation of the time to arrive. The furnishing of music, but it's usually from the chin.

The P. E. wires are coming down on North Main street, but not before City Attorney Lew Blodgett took the matter up with the state railroad commission which body issued a removal order. Those wires carried the current which sent street cars to Orange for many years. Then automobiles forced the P. E. to restrict the service. Say, do you remember away back when the Pacific Electric interurban service was almost as big an aid for Southern California as its climate?

Service clubs are not experiencing any difficulty getting programs. There are so many special weeks and dinners that the speakers are easily obtainable. It's all right to spread the information. I had a citizen stop me this forenoon and he wanted to know why the flags were on display, and then I had to tell him about "Old Glory Week" and that we ought to know more about it.

"Positively no gasoline will be sold to any person under the influence of liquor." This sign is conspicuously displayed at the Main Service Garage, operated by Tom Butt. It would be a big contribution to safety if it was posted in every garage and service station, and rigidly enforced. If a driver under the influence of liquor comes in for more gasoline the dealer increases the highway hazard by selling him. If a customer is so noticeably drunk it might be a good idea not only to refuse sale, but to phone the police department the number of the car. It is often difficult to keep from having a wreck with reasonably sober drivers, about dodging the fellow who is in such a condition he doesn't know whether he is going or coming.

Seems rather quiet after the Wild Series. There aren't so many shrieking radios about the fellows operating radios thought the population of Timbuctoo wanted to hear whether the Yankees had slaughtered the Giants or vice versa. I was much more interested in a pool ticket. However, there has been such a change in the score informed me that it wasn't worth the paper it was written on. You know, just another scrap of paper.

Tad Dunning has kept away from me for about a year and a half, but I encountered him yesterday in a downtown cafe, and he appeared to have almost conquered an illness which has pursued him persistently for sometime. There persistently for sometime. There has been such a change in the score informed me that it wasn't worth the paper it was written on. You know, just another scrap of paper.

Conditions are bound to improve. Business is just dizzy from turning that corner so many times!

What number were you calling, please?

There's something wrong. No fishing invitations for several weeks. Guess the World Series and the presidential election are more important. And then the fishing season isn't so exciting at this time of year.

NOT MADE WITH HANDS

The mission of mankind on earth is to establish a temporal abiding place, the eternal is the business of the Supreme Architect. It is ours to build not only homes but characters and brotherly concern so that peace may abide, and contentment prevail. Homes are the strength of the nation and he who adds to that security has bound the nation closer together. It is in this connection one can to some degree appreciate that Harry Ball made a contribution to human welfare. Into many of the homes which he and his associates built, there are happy and contented families, who will long remember with gratitude their relationship with the builder. Santa Ana extended its residential section and attractiveness through his aggressiveness. It is not in the length of time he is here, but what we do while we are here. Into that house not made with hands goes our friend and neighbor, safe beyond the earthly vicissitudes and trials, where he can rest from his labors, and where the weary are at rest.
